With Assembly polls nearing, Amit Shah to visit TN on June 8

Chennai, June 6 (UNI) ; BJP poll strategist and Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be visiting Tamil Nadu on June 8, Sunday and is expected to hold key deliberations with the BJP leaders on devising the strategy for the crucial Assembly elections which is about less than 10 months away. Mr Amit Shah will be landing in Madurai where he was expected to meet the State BJP leaders and core committee members, besides the alliance party leaders, including its key partner the main Opposition, heading the NDA alliance in the State.

He is also expected to attend a public meeting.

This will be his second visit to Tamil Nadu in the recent past. During his earlier visit he announced the revival of alliance with the AIADMK by addressing a press conference and exuded confidence of the AIADMK, heading the NDA, forming the next government in 2026 in the State.

During his current visit, he was also expected to focus on discussions on bringing in its past allies, including the PMK to the NDA fold and retaining the sulking DMDK of later actor-politician Vijayakanth in the alliance, besides including ouster AIADMK leader O Panneerselvam and AMMK led by TTV Dhinakaran--both opposing the DMK--in the NDA.

DMDK has been keeping its options open on its alliance strategy after it was denied Rajya Sabha seat by AIADMK as promised during 2024 Lok Sabha polls, a point which was denied by AIADMK General Secreraty Edappadi K Palaniswami himself saying no such commitment was given.

DMDK General Secretary Premalatha Vijayakanth said her party poll strategy and alliance will be announced in January 2026 after the DMDK's meet in Cuddalore, while keeping her options open, though the allies of the ruling DMK had openly stated that they were willing to accommodate the DMDK as part of the alliance and that Chief Minister and DMK President M K Stalin would take a final call.

They key issue before the BJP is to get back a now 'divided' PMK to its fold to strengthen the alliance as it has a considerable Vanniyar support and vote base in the Northern districts.

However, this seems to be the bone of contention within the top leaders of the PMK leading to simmering differences and war of words between the Party Founder Dr S Ramadoss and his son and Party President Dr Anbumani. The growing differences--which emerged following a public spat when Anbumani stoutly opposed posting his nephew Mukundan Parasuraman as the Youth Wing Secretary and Dr Ramadoss taking over full control of the party, demoting his son as Executive

He said that despite Harish Rao’s political experience, he was behaving in a “depraved manner” and making baseless and provocative statements about a seed factory project, which he alleged was intended to stir public unrest. “Harish Rao is the kind of politician who thrives on controversy and dead issues,” Sampath charged.

Marking the occasion, the Minister also planted a sapling on the college premises, underscoring the importance of environmental responsibility alongside defence innovation, a defence statement said.

Sampath clarified that neither the Congress government nor Chief Minister Revanth Reddy had any links to the project.

“It is Harish Rao who is peddling lies about the factory, despite knowing full well that any investment exceeding Rs 50 crore requires central government clearance, which has been duly obtained, including from the Environment and Pollution Control Boards,” he stated.

Sampath also questioned whether Harish Rao, as a senior leader, was unaware of the role of the local BJP MP, hinting at political doublespeak.

He accused BRS of “playing with the lives of local people” by spreading misinformation and obstructing development efforts. He further revealed that Minister Sridhar Babu and concerned officials had already taken public feedback on the project and

Congress committed to strengthening party from grassroots: TPCC President

Hyderabad, June 7 (UNI) :Telangana Pradesh Congress Committee (TPCC) President Mahesh Kumar Goud on Friday said that the party is firmly committed to strengthening its base from the grassroots level.

The Karimnagar Parliament Constituency Review Meeting was held at Gandhi Bhavan, chaired by Mahesh Kumar Goud. The meeting aimed to evaluate party performance and reinforce the organizational structure ahead of the upcoming elections. AICC in-charge Meenakshi Natarajan, Government Whip Adi Srinivas, PCC Advisory Committee member Jeevan Reddy, MLC Balamuri Venkat, MLA and DCC President Kavampally Satyanarayana, and several senior leaders attended the session. Speaking on the occasion, Mahesh Kumar Goud described the appointment of Meenakshi Natarajan as AICC in-charge as “auspicious” and praised her leadership. He stressed the need to revitalise the party from the booth and village levels, urging leaders and cadres to work with renewed enthusiasm, especially while in power.

He asserted that the Congress has a real chance to retain power, provided the party functions were proceeding only after consulting with technical experts.

“Not a single cent of land has been taken by the government without due process,” he affirmed.

Calling out what he described as a deliberate campaign of defamation, Sampath Kumar alleged that BRS MLCs and MLAs had demanded huge sums from the seed company and turned against it when their demands were not met.

“Now they’re burning cloth and blaming me and CM Revanth for a thorn that supposedly grew in his house,” he said sarcastically.

He challenged Harish Rao to protest against the “atrocities” committed by his brother-in-law and accused him of shedding “crocodile tears” for farmers while hiding his own misdeeds. “Congress is committed to cleansing the sins committed by the ten-year BRS regime,” Sampath added.

efficiently and remains people-centric. “The government is functioning transparently, without any deception, and has launched several welfare schemes — ranging from free bus travel to distribution of fine rice,” he stated. Goud acknowledged the growing discontent among grassroots workers and underlined the importance of better coordination and engagement. # Govt to build Indiramma houses in urban areas using G+3 model: Ponguleti

(Standard Post Bureau)

Hyderabad, June 6 :The government is now extending its flagship Indiramma Housing Scheme to urban areas, aiming to provide dignified housing for the urban poor without disrupting their livelihoods, said State Revenue, Housing, and Information & Public Relations Minister Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy.

Speaking after a review meeting on the housing scheme held on Friday, the Minister said that under the leadership of Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy, the construction of Indiramma houses in rural areas has reached a crucial phase, and the government has now shifted focus towards urban regions.

“In cities like Hyderabad, the poor prefer to stay where they live and work. When houses are built far from their workplaces, they hesitate to relocate due to livelihood concerns.

In the past, 42,000 houses were built far from the city, but only 19,000 people moved in. A recent survey revealed that only 13,000 are currently residing in those houses,” the Minister explained.

To address this issue, the government has decided to construct G+3 model apartments directly in slum areas, ensuring that beneficiaries can continue their livelihoods uninterrupted. As part of the first phase, 16 slums in Hyderabad have been identified. Similar initiatives will be launched in other urban centers including Warangal, Nizamabad, Mahabubnagar, Nalgonda, and Karimnagar.

In a significant move towards uplifting tribal communities, Minister Ponguleti announced that 22,016 Indiramma houses have been sanctioned specifically for tribals. Of these, 13,266 houses have been approved for Chenchu, Kolam, Thoti, and Kondareddy tribes in the four ITDA regions — Bhadrachalam, Utnoor, Eturunagaram, and Munnanur — while 8,750 houses have been allotted across the 16 ST constituencies in the state.

He directed officials to promptly identify beneficiaries and begin the construction process without delay. “Officials must continuously monitor the progress of construction and align their work with the government’s commitment to providing homes for every eligible person,” he added.

Highlighting the financial commitment of the government, he stated, “No other state in the country has spent Rs 5 lakh per house for the poor.

Our government is committed to fulfilling the electoral promise of providing Indiramma houses to every deserving household in Telangana.”

Minister Uttam vows to intensify fight against AP’s illegal Banakacharla project

Hyderabad, June 6 (UNI) : Irrigation Minister Capt N Uttam Kumar Reddy reaffirmed the state government’s determination to resist

Andhra Pradesh’s proposed Godavari-Banakacharla Link Project, calling it a blatant violation of inter-state water-sharing norms.

Speaking to the media at the Dr B R Ambedkar Telangana Secretariat on Friday, the Minister said he had written multiple letters to the Centre, exposing Andhra Pradesh’s attempt to divert Godavari floodwaters to Rayalaseema without mandatory approvals.

He noted that AP unveiled the project in December 2024 without submitting a Detailed Project Report (DPR) or obtaining clearances from the Central Water Commission (CWC), GRMB, KRMB, or the Apex Council, as mandated under the Andhra Pradesh Reorganisation Act (APRA), 2014.

Reddy warned that the project also violates the Godavari Water Disputes Tribunal (GWDT) Award, which allocated 966 TMC to Telangana. He accused Andhra Pradesh of trying to unilaterally divert unallocated floodwaters, directly affecting Telangana’s drought-prone areas.

He criticised the previous BRS government for failing to protect Telangana’s water rights, alleging secret political understandings that weakened the state’s position.

He urged Union

Ministers Kishan Reddy and Bandi Sanjay to support Telangana and press the Centre to halt Andhra Pradesh’s illegal attempts.

Union Jal Shakti Minister C.R. Patil, in his response, confirmed that no formal proposal had been received from AP and assured that any future submission would be scrutinized as per law.

“Telangana will fight tooth and nail to protect every drop of its rightful share,” Uttam Kumar Reddy declared.

Addressing a public meeting after laying the foundation stone for development works worth Rs 1,051.45 crore in Tirumalapur village of Turkapalli Mandal, the Chief Minister announced the formation of the Yadagirigutta Temple Development Board on the lines of Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams.

“With the blessings of Sri Lakshmi Narasimha Swamy, we formed a people’s government,” Revanth said, vowing to elevate the Yadagirigutta temple-linked medical college into a full-fledged university.

Reaffirming his commitment to cleaning the Musi River, the Chief Minister recalled his symbolic foot march last November and declared, “If Prime Minister Modi can clean the Ganga and Sabarmati, why not the Musi? Nalgonda’s children deserve better.”

He criticised the previous BRS government for neglecting Nalgonda’s irrigation projects like the SLBC and Bunadigani Canal. Referring to BRS as “DRS—Demons’ Rashtra Samithi”, Revanth accused them of reducing villages like Vasalamarri to ruins and failing to complete key infrastructure in a decade.

Highlighting the current government’s initiatives, he said, “We’ve provided free bus travel for women, gas cylinders at Rs 500, waived off Rs 2 lakh farm loans, and ensured Rs 21,000 crore in bank linkages for women’s groups.”

He also cited the government’s move for a 42 per cent BC reservation through caste census data and classification of SCs as long-awaited reforms now fulfilled.

Calling Nalgonda “a land of consciousness and courage,” Revanth assured that those who malign the government will face resistance from its people. “I have no other desire. My only aim is to make Telangana a model state,” he said, promising all-round development of the Aleru constituency.

Telangana Irrigation and Civil Supplies Minister Uttam Kumar Reddy said that fine rice is being supplied to feed 80 per cent of the population, and Rs 11,000 crore is being spent for the purpose.

He said that the Gandhamalla Balancing Reservoir, pending for over a decade, will be completed at a cost of Rs 574 crore. The reservoir capacity has been reduced to 1.4 TMC to avoid submergence of surrounding villages while still providing irrigation to 60,000 acres.

He appealed to the legislators to expedite land acquisition for these projects.

He added that the Dindi project will be taken up from the Edula reservoir at a cost

Will Rahul Gandhi's 'Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan' help Congress regain ground in MP?

After Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi's visit to Bhopal on Tuesday, where he launched the 'Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan' aimed at strengthening the party's organisation and grassroots presence in Madhya Pradesh, a pertinent question arises: Can this initiative help the party regain its lost ground and prestige in the state?

As Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha, Gandhi interacted with senior leaders and grassroots workers through four separate meetings, conveying a stern message to all.

Notably, his analogy of "race horses, wedding horses, and lame horses" has sparked discussion among party members. Gandhi had said that "race horses" would be sent to races, "wedding horses" would be used in weddings, and "lame horses" would be retired. Party insiders suggest that Gandhi's statement is aimed at older leaders who are no longer effective or energetic.

The Congress has been out of power in the state for over two decades, and this initiative aims to revitalise the organisation.

According to party sources, Gandhi made it clear in his speech that the 'Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan' will lead to the appointment of new district presidents, who will be responsible for running the organisation at the district level.

The appointment and evaluation of these presidents will be based on reports from observers appointed by the central organisation.

As per the sources, Gandhi warned that no leaders should think that they can ignore the district presidents. The district presidents' role would be important in the distribution of election tickets.

Sources indicate that district presidents are likely to be appointed within the next three months as part of the Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan initiative. This will be followed by a similar process for the block Congress presidents.

Congress's state in-charge, Harish Chaudhary, has stated that the Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan has been launched in two phases and will be expanded further.

Sources say that since the Congress party has been out of power in Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh for over two decades (except for the 15-month Kamal Nath government in Madhya Pradesh), the decision has been taken to start strengthening the organisation in both states at the central level.

The party leadership is optimistic that the Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan will help the Congress perform better in the upcoming assembly elections in 2028 and other elections.

The campaign's objective is not limited to elections but also aims to strengthen the party's grassroots presence across the country. Some leaders view this initiative as a "generation change" in the party organisation, where young, energetic, and capable leaders and workers will come forward.

Sources also said that the central organisation has appointed strong and experienced leaders as observers to oversee the process. These observers will be sent to each district, and leaders who have previously held important positions in the state organisation and central organisation will be given the responsibility of district observers.

Such observers will efficiently carry out their duties, even in areas dominated by established leaders.

Political observers believe that Gandhi's visit was highly successful from the party organisation's perspective.

He was able to convey a stern message to senior leaders who have been damaging the organisation, while also giving a message to grassroots workers and leaders that their voices will now be heard directly by the central organisation.

However, observers are apprehensive that senior leaders who are being sidelined may unite and cause damage to the organisation. Talking to UNI over a phone call, Mukesh Nayak, head of the Congress party's state media department, said that the campaign will bring about a positive change in the party's atmosphere and lead to a fundamental shift. New people will get opportunities to advance democratically, and the party's factionalism, which is the biggest problem, will be eliminated. The Party will now be able to make decisions better, he added.

Regarding Gandhi's "horse" analogy, Nayak said that "wedding horses" are leaders or workers who have loyalty to the party, "race horses" are those with loyalty and capability, and "lame horses" are those who, despite being incapable, prevent capable people from moving forward. He added that the party will now be successful in regaining its ground and prestige.

On the other hand, BJP's state media in-charge, Ashish Agrawal, told UNI that under Rahul Gandhi's leadership, the UPA has lost numerous elections, including Lok Sabha and assembly elections. Therefore, launching the Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan under his leadership seems absurd.

PM inaugurates Chenab bridge - world's highest railway - India's first cable-stayed rail bridge

(Standard Post Bureau)

The Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi laid the foundation stone, inaugurated and dedicated to the nation multiple development projects worth over Rs 46,000 crore at Katra, Jammu & Kashmir today. Saluting the land of the brave Veer Zorawar Singh, he remarked that today's event is a grand celebration of India's unity and determination. Shri Modi said that with the blessings of Mata Vaishno Devi, the Valley of Kashmir is now connected to India's vast railway network. "We have always invoked Maa Bharati with deep reverence, saying 'from Kashmir to Kanyakumari,' today, this has become a reality even in our railway network", exclaimed the Prime Minister, emphasising that the Udhampur-Srinagar-Baramulla Rail Line Project is not just a name but a symbol of Jammu and Kashmir's new strength and a testament to India's growing capabilities. In line with the commitment to boost rail infrastructure and connectivity in the region, he inaugurated the Chenab and Anji rail bridges and flagged off Vande Bharat Trains, enhancing connectivity within Jammu and Kashmir. Additionally, Shri Modi also laid the foundation stone for a new medical college in Jammu, reinforcing the government's commitment to strengthening healthcare facilities in the region, stating that '46,000 crore worth of projects will accelerate development in Jammu and Kashmir, driving progress and prosperity. The Prime Minister extended his best wishes and congratulated the people on this new era of growth and transformation.

Underlining that generations in Jammu and Kashmir had long dreamt of railway connectivity, Shri Modi said today, that dream has become a reality. Referring to a recent statement by Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, the Prime Minister noted that even as a student in seventh or eighth grade, Shri Abdullah had been anticipating the completion of this project. Shri Modi emphasized that the fulfillment of this long-awaited aspiration marks a historic moment for millions of people in Jammu and Kashmir, paving the way for enhanced connectivity and progress.

Stating that it is a privilege for their government that this ambitious railway project gained momentum during their tenure and has now been successfully completed, Shri Modi emphasized the challenges encountered, like the difficult terrain, extreme weather conditions, and falling rocks in the mountains, making the project immensely tough and demanding. However, he remarked that their government has consistently chosen to face challenges head-on and overcome them with determination. The Prime Minister noted that numerous all-weather infrastructure projects underway in Jammu and Kashmir exemplify this commitment. He cited the recently opened Sonmarg Tunnel and his experience traveling over the Chenab Bridge and Anji Bridge as remarkable milestones. Shri Modi lauded the engineering brilliance and unwavering dedication of India's engineers and workers, stating that the Chenab Bridge, the world's tallest railway arch bridge, stands as a testament to India's ambition. He observed that while people travel to Paris to see the Eiffel Tower, the Chenab Bridge surpasses it in height, making it not only a crucial infrastructure achievement but also an emerging tourist attraction. Similarly, the Prime Minister described the Anji Bridge as an engineering marvel, being India's first cable-supported railway bridge. He asserted that these structures are not just steel and concrete, but living symbols of India's strength, standing tall in the rugged Pir Panjal mountains. Shri Modi declared that these achievements represent India's vision for a developed nation, proving that as grand as India's dream of progress is, so too is its resilience, capability, and determination. Above all, he emphasized that pure intentions and relentless dedication are the driving forces behind India's transformation.

Emphasizing that both Chenab Bridge and Anji Bridge will serve as catalysts for prosperity in Jammu and Kashmir, the Prime Minister said, "these landmark projects will not only boost tourism but also benefit various sectors of the economy, creating new opportunities for businesses and industries". He highlighted that enhanced rail connectivity between Jammu and Kashmir will open new doors for local entrepreneurs, driving economic growth. Shri Modi noted that Kashmir's apples will now reach major markets across India at lower costs, making trade more efficient. Furthermore, dry fruits and Kashmir's renowned Pashmina shawls, along with other traditional handicrafts, will now be easily transported to every corner of the country, strengthening the region's artisanal industry. The Prime Minister stated that this improved connectivity will also make travel more convenient for the people of Jammu and Kashmir, allowing smoother movement across different parts of India.

Shri Modi shared a touching comment from a student in Sangaldan, who stated that until now, only those who had traveled outside their village had seen a train in real life. Most villagers had only watched trains in videos, unable to believe that soon, a real train would pass right before their eyes. The Prime Minister also mentioned that many residents are already memorizing train schedules, excited about the new connectivity. He highlighted a thoughtful remark from a young girl who stated, now, the weather will no longer decide whether the roads remain open or closed. This new train service will help people in all seasons. "Jammu and Kashmir as the crown of Mother India, adorned with dazzling jewels—each representing the region's immense strength and beauty", described the Prime Minister, praising its ancient culture, traditions, spiritual consciousness, breathtaking landscapes, medicinal herbs, flourishing orchards, and vibrant youth talent, stating that these qualities shine like precious gemstones in India's crown. Having visited Jammu and Kashmir for decades, the Prime Minister affirmed his deep understanding of the region's potential and reiterated his dedication to the continuous development and upliftment of Jammu and Kashmir, ensuring prosperity for its people.

"Jammu and Kashmir has long been a pillar of India's education and cultural heritage", affirmed the Prime Minister. He added that as India establishes itself as a global knowledge hub, the growing participation of Jammu and Kashmir in this transformation. Shri Modi pointed out the presence of premier institutions such as IIT, IIM, AIIMS, and NIT, alongside Central Universities in Jammu and Srinagar, strengthening academic excellence in the region. He also noted the expansion of the research ecosystem, further enhancing innovation and learning opportunities.

The Prime Minister emphasized that remarkable advancements have been made in healthcare, with two state-level cancer institutes established in recent years. Over the last five years, seven new medical colleges have been opened, significantly benefiting both patients and aspiring medical students. Shri Modi highlighted that MBBS seats in Jammu and Kashmir have risen from 500 to 1,300, ensuring greater access to medical education. Additionally, the Reasi district is set to receive a new medical college, enhancing healthcare facilities for the region. The Prime Minister praised the Shri Mata Vaishno Devi Institute of Medical Excellence, describing it as not only a modern hospital but also an embodiment of India's rich tradition of philanthropy. He also lauded the contributions of devotees from across India, whose donations helped establish the institution. Extending his best wishes, Shri Modi congratulated the Shri Mata Vaishno Devi Shrine Board for its dedicated efforts in this noble endeavor. He also announced that the hospital's capacity would be expanded from 300 to 500 beds, further improving medical services. The Prime Minister noted that this development would provide greater convenience to devotees visiting Mata Vaishno Devi in Katra.

Highlighting that their government has now completed 11 years in office, dedicating this period to uplifting the poor and empowering citizens, the Prime Minister outlined several key welfare initiatives that have transformed millions of lives. He listed out the Pradhan Mantri Awas their government had worked for the honest, tax-paying middle class.

Underlining that their government is consistently creating new employment opportunities for the youth, with tourism emerging as a significant driver of economic growth and connectivity, Shri Modi highlighted that tourism not only generates jobs but also fosters unity among people. Condemning Pakistan's repeated attempts to disrupt this progress, the Prime Minister stated that it stands against humanity, social harmony, and economic prosperity. Referring to the April 22 incident in Pahalgam, Shri Modi asserted that Pakistan attacked both Kashmiriyat and humanity, intending to incite violence in India and cripple the earnings of hardworking Kashmiris. He pointed out that this deliberate attack on tourists was meant to sabotage the flourishing tourism industry in Jammu and Kashmir, which had witnessed record-high visitor numbers over the past few years. The Prime Minister remarked that Pakistan's malicious intent directly impacted local workers, including horse riders, porters, guides, guest house owners, and shopkeepers, aiming to destroy their livelihoods. He praised the courage of young Adil, who stood against terrorists, but tragically lost his life while striving to support his family through honest labor. Shri Modi reaffirmed his government's commitment to protecting the people of Jammu and Kashmir, ensuring that terrorism will never succeed in halting the region's progress.

Lauding the resilience of the people of Jammu and Kashmir, the Prime Minister stated that their firm stand against Pakistan's conspiracy sends a powerful message. He remarked that the youth of Jammu and Kashmir are now determined to confront terrorism head-on. Shri Modi condemned the destructive impact of terrorism, recalling how it burned schools, devastated hospitals, and shattered generations in the valley. He noted that terrorism even made free and fair elections a major challenge, depriving people of their right to choose their representatives. The Prime Minister affirmed that the strength and determination displayed by the people of Jammu and Kashmir marks a turning point, signaling their commitment to peace, progress, and a brighter future.

Shri Modi stated that for years, Jammu and Kashmir endured terrorism, leading many to abandon their dreams and accept violence as their fate. However, he emphasized that their government has changed this reality, enabling the youth of Jammu and Kashmir to dream again—and fulfill those dreams. The Prime Minister expressed that Kashmir's youth now take joy in seeing bustling markets, vibrant shopping malls, and flourishing cinema halls.

French FM denies Paris supplies weapon parts for Israel

Paris, June 6 (UNI) France is not supplying Israel with spare parts for weapons used in the Gaza Strip operation, French Foreign Minister Jean-Noel Barrot said on Friday.On Wednesday, Disclose news outlet reported that a cargo ship carrying 14 tonnes of spare parts for submachine guns would dock from the port of Fos-sur-Mer in France to the port of Haifa in Israel. It was the third delivery of this kind since the beginning of 2025, the report said. Later, the outlet added that cannon tubes would also be delivered. However, longshoremen refused to load it onto a ship, saying they "will not participate in the ongoing genocide organized by the Israeli government."

"We do not deliver military equipment used in Gaza. There are two exceptions: components that allow Israel to defend itself – including for the Iron Dome – and for equipment that can be assembled in Israel, but intended for re-export," Barrot told RTL radio. If any French-supplied parts were used in armed clashes, the manufacturing company would be violating the law, the minister added.French President Emmanuel Macron said last week that European countries must toughen their stance on Israel over its ongoing military operation in the Gaza Strip. The French leader also noted that recognizing a Palestinian state "is not only a moral obligation, but also a political necessity."

Trump administration shuts down "Quiet Skies" passenger surveillance program

New York, June 6 (UNI) :The Trump administration has closed a controversial program that used undercover U.S. air marshals on flights to surveil passengers, and removed a government official who took responsibility for putting Director of National Intelligence Tulsi Gabbard in it.

Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Secretary Kristi Noem called for an investigation into the program as she announced its closure on Thursday. DHS said the program cost taxpayers 200 million U.S. dollars a year and "failed to stop a single terrorist attack."

In a recent meeting, administration officials confronted leadership at the Transportation Security Administration over what they said was politically motivated use of the Quiet Skies program under the Biden administration, reported The Wall Street Journal on Friday about the move."The clash over Quiet Skies, a program that has long been a cause for concern for civil liberties advocates, is the latest example of the Trump administration accusing career officials of political weaponization," it noted.

The program was launched in 2010, and its existence was first uncovered by the Boston Globe in 2018. Undercover U.S. air marshals travel on flights with individuals included in the program.

US resumes development of ARRW hypersonic missile – Air Force Chief of Staff

Washington, June 6 (UNI) : The US Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David Allvin has announced the resumption of the development of the hypersonic AGM-183A Air-Launched Rapid Response Weapon (ARRW), despite the program being previously suspended due to mixed testing results and a halt in investment support."I will tell you that we are developing — and you'll see in the budget submission, assuming it's what we put forward — two different programs. One is a larger form factor that is more strategic [and] long range that we have already tested several times — it's called ARRW," Allvin was cited as saying during a House Armed Services Committee hearing on Thursday by the DefenseScoop news outlet.

According to the Defense One news portal, the ARRW program was launched in 2018 with a $480 million contract awarded to Lockheed Martin company. The missile belongs to the class of boost-glide hypersonic weapons launched from an aircraft, it uses a rocket booster to reach high altitudes and then descends toward its target at speed five times higher than the speed of sound, maneuvering in flight. Such systems are considered virtually invulnerable to existing air defense systems.

Philippines unemployment sees slight uptick in April, rises to 4.1 pc to Mar 3.9 pc

Manila, June 6 (UNI) The job market in the Philippines has seen a slight dip in April, as the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.1% in April, compared to 3.9% in March, according to figures released by the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) on Friday.

This translated to an estimated 2.06 million Filipinos out of work last month, a marginal increase from the 2.04 million recorded in April 2024, as confirmed by PSA Chief Dennis Mapa in a press conference.

Philippines, which is already facing a lot of economic hassles such as global trade fluctuations and domestic challenges like high inflation, corruption, and climate change-related disruptions, this slight uptick in unemployment rates is an issue which could potentially exacerbate problems to new levels.

However, the country's Department of Economy, Planning, and Development has maintained a positive outlook in the face of this latest development with Rosemarie Edillon, the department's acting head and Undersecretary for Policy and Planning, stating that the local Philippine labour market continues to demonstrate resilience amid global headwinds.

Tesla boss alleges US President part of infamous Epstein Files

Washington, June 6 (UNI) : The Donald Trump and Elon Musk bromance seems to have all but ended now with the world's richest man alleging that the US President's name figures in the classified Epstein files.

Musk's nuclear escalation of his feud with Donald Trump came after duo traded blows for days over the US head of state's flagship domestic policy proposal, the "One Big Beautiful Bill" (OB BB), which the world's richest man had earlier branded a "disgusting abomination."

On Thursday, the SpaceX CEO dropped a dirty bomb on the US President and wrote on X: "Time to drop the really big bomb: @realDonaldTrump is in the Epstein files. That is the real reason they have not been made public. Have a nice day, DJT!"

The Epstein files refers to the vast array of classified files and documents, related to the convicted billionaire sex offender Jeffrey Epstein, with whom Trump was friends with decades ago.

While Epstein was sentenced to 18 months in prison, the US courts had ruled that Trump was not in on his former friend's criminal life.

The feud between the two global titans had been turning increasingly sour, owing to Musk's own disdain for the bill, which Trump fully justified as being a very big necessity for the US.

The US President had earlier expressed his disappointment over Musk's remarks, saying it may just be the end of their "great relationship."

Attacking his former 'First Buddy', Trump earlier wrote on social media "Elon knew the inner workings of this bill better than anyone... and he only developed a problem when he found out I would cut the EV (electric vehicle) mandate... And it really is

Netherlands to hold general elections on Oct 29: minister

The Hague, June 6 (UNI) The Netherlands will hold new general elections on Oct. 29, outgoing Minister of the Interior and Kingdom Relations Judith Uitermark announced Friday. The Dutch government collapsed earlier this week.

The Electoral Council proposed the date to the outgoing minister, who accepted the recommendation and submitted it to the Council of Ministers the same day. The council approved the proposal, making the election date official.

After the government fell on Tuesday, members of the House of Representatives pushed for new elections as soon as possible. Until then, the outgoing caretaker cabinet without the Party for Freedom (PVV), which withdrew from the coalition over disagreements on migration policy, will continue handling day-to-day affairs.

The Electoral Council considered Oct. 29 as the earliest feasible date for elections. Factoring in the summer holidays and the standard three-month preparation period, this date allows municipalities and political parties sufficient time to organize.

The last general elections were held on Nov. 22, 2023, during which, the far-right PVV won 37 of the 150 seats in the House of Representatives, becoming the largest party for the first time in history.

The GreenLeft-Labor alliance (GroenLinks-PvdA) came in second with 25 seats, followed by the right-wing People's Party for Freedom and Democracy (VVD) with 24, and the centrist newcomer New Social Contract (NSC) garnered 20 seats.

The government led by Prime Minister Dick Schoof was sworn in on July 2, 2024, comprising the PVV, NSC, VVD, and the Farmer-Citizen Movement (BBB). However, the coalition collapsed Tuesday when PVV leader Geert Wilders withdrew his party from the government over a dispute regarding asylum policies.

Judge temporarily blocks Trump's visa ban on Harvard's int'l students

San Francisco, June 6 (UNI) :A federal judge on Thursday temporarily blocked U.S. President Donald Trump's visa ban on Harvard's foreign students.

U.S. District Court Judge Allison Burroughs issued a temporary restraining order that prohibits anyone from "implementing, instituting, maintaining, enforcing, or giving force or effect to the Presidential Proclamation" that Trump issued Wednesday.

Thursday's order will reinstate international students' ability to enter the country to attend Harvard until a hearing on June 16.

In granting the order blocking implementation of Trump's proclamation and the effort of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Burroughs wrote that she was acting "to preserve the status quo pending a hearing."

Burroughs deemed that Harvard had made a "sufficient showing" that the proclamation would sustain "immediate and irreparable harm" unless a temporary restraining order was granted.

Trump's proclamation targeting Harvard followed an attempt by the DHS late last month to limit Harvard's ability to enroll foreign students by revoking its certification in the Student and Exchange Visitor Program, which was temporarily blocked by Burroughs.

Burroughs also announced that the court would extend the temporary restraining order first granted to Harvard on May 23 until June 20, or until a preliminary injunction order can be issued.

Harvard University filed a legal challenge in federal court on Thursday against the Trump administration's ban on international students from entering the United States on visas to attend Harvard.

The filing came less than 24 hours after Trump issued a proclamation suspending entry for foreign nationals intending to study at Harvard.

Unmanageable hair screams the arrival of monsoon, and such weather calls for some extra attention to your tresses.

Dr.Sunaina Hameed, Consultant Dermatologist at Whitefield Columbia Asia Hospital believes that acid rain, dirty water and increased levels of humidity have an adverse effect on the hair and scalp. However, a few simple tweaks in your daily schedule can save you from these problems. If you get caught in the rain, wash your hair with a mild shampoo as soon as possible. Don't forget to use a conditioner after rinse. Also, limit the use of hair dryers and opt for air-drying instead. Apply warmargan oil to your scalp and run a comb through your hair to get the oil to reach up to the tips.

Monsoon Hair care 101: expert speak

Smooth out wet and tangled hair using a wide-toothed comb. This will help prevent hair fall and breakage. Monsoon humidity can cause an itchy scalp and dandruff. Natural cures include rubbing neem oil and lemon on your scalp to get rid of itchiness. In case these aren't enough, use a mild ketoconazole or zinc pyrithione (ZPTO) shampoo. This season can leave your scalp prone to tiny painful pus filled boils. This is a medical condition known as folliculitis caused by bacterial or fungal infection in the hair follicles. Use an anti-bacterial shampoo (like Cetirilak) every day. In case it doesn't help, consult a dermatologist for antibiotics. Humidity can cause your hair to get frizzy. Use a heavy cream based conditioner and a leave-on hair serum to tame the frizz. Tone down the use of waxes and gels. Do not tie or braid your hair when it is wet. Minimize the use of hot irons and curling irons during this season. Aloe vera gel is an excellent hair mask and beer is an excellent conditioner. Use them once a week for nourishment. When you can't tame your hair on a bad hair day, just accessorise! Use a scarfs, bandanas or colourful hair bands as temporary fixes. Curry leaf extract, neem oil, hibiscus extract, black tea, henna, coffee powder, reeta (soapnut powder), gooseberry and acacia (shikakhai) are excellent herbal and home-based remedies to darken your hair.

Simple steps to glowing Skin

Here are some tips to boost your skin's health, reports femalefirst.co.uk:

Drink lots of water:

Every system and function in our body depends on water. Skin is no different. Dry skin has less resilience and is more prone to wrinkling, so ensure you take in enough water to reach your skin and keep it hydrated. Two to three litres a day is usually about right.

Multi-task:

Looking after your skin doesn't have to stop at home, so carry a multi-tasking quick-fix with you in your handbag for dewy skin on the go. A water spray can be used to cool and calm even the most sensitive complexions. Not only does it tone the skin, but it can also be used to set make-up and refresh skin on a hot day, as well as soothing and softening skin on the go.

Always remove make-up:

It sounds obvious, but one in five women still admit to sleeping with make-up on when away from home. During summer nights, one is naturally warmer and sweatier and if make-up is left on overnight, and bacteria is more likely to develop, leaving pores blocked and resulting in an increased chance of waking up with bad skin outbreaks - whether spots or dry patches.

Stick to products meant for your skin:

The internet can give out weird and wonderful information, but not all of it is accurate. Be aware that not everything you read will work. A common mistake is using toothpaste on spots - toothpaste is meant for your teeth which are one of the hardest surfaces in your body. Using a product on your skin which is actually intended for the teeth will damage your skin and cause it to completely dry out.

Wear SPF throughout the year:

It's easy to assume that just because the sun isn't out, you don't need to use a product with SPF in it. But UVA rays are constantly present, no matter the season or the weather and these are the ones that cause the skin to age because they are able to penetrate much deeper into the surface of the skin, damaging the cells beneath.

Reverse shampoo routine for healthier hair

Want softer and bouncy curls? Then try the reverse shampooing technique.

One of the hottest haircare trends, this method requires you to first condition your hair and then wash it off with shampoo. Experts and those who have tried this method swear by its results, confirming that the hair is much shiny and manageable than before.

The logic behind it There are two ways of looking at it. Anooradha Mittal, a hairdresser, says, "When you douse your hair with conditioner at the end of a wash, you run the risk of not rinsing it off completely. So, chances of your hair becoming greasy and accumulating dirt is high. The logic behind conditioning first is to let the conditioner do its job completely — protect hair from chemicals present in the shampoo and lock the moisture and natural oils. However, most salon experts follow the process of applying a conditioner towards the end." How to reverse hair wash Wet your hair. Pour a coin-sized amount of conditioner on your palm and apply it evenly. Avoid the roots and scalp, and concentrate more on the strands. Leave it on for five minutes before washing. Shampoo the regular way and rinse off all lather. What are the benefits? According to trichologist Srimadh Bave, with this technique, your hair gets the moisturising benefits from the conditioner and proper cleansing from the shampoo, without leaving behind any residue. "If not washed well, conditioners at the end of a routine leave behind a coating on strands, which attract dirt and grime."

When your hair is wet, it's at a high risk of breakage. A pre-conditioning routine fortifies hair. You can even leave a light conditioner on for about half an hour before shampooing it off.

This regime adds volume to hair, makes it shiny and gives a soft texture. It also makes your curls frizz-free.

A mixture of a light conditioner and water can act as a good detangler. Separate hair into sections after applying the mix and slowly remove the knots.

The biggest advantages of reverse hair wash? It's low maintenance (because you are not buying any extra high-end haircare product but using your routine conditioner and shampoo) and you spend the same time putting this process into practice.

It's not a bad idea after all to go bare faced sometimes, but make sure you have healthy and glowing skin. Ensure drinking water and using sunscreen to get that glow.

Gabriel signs new Arsenal deal until 2029

London, June 6 (UNI) : Arsenal defender Gabriel Magalhaes has signed a new long-term contract to keep him at the club until 2029.

The Brazilian was already under contract until 2027, but this new deal reflects his importance to manager Mikel Arteta's project at Emirates Stadium.

Gabriel, 27, has been a key player for Arsenal since joining the club in a £27m move from Lille in 2020, making 210 appearances in all competitions, according to a BBC news.

"I arrived here as a young player and after almost five years I'm so happy and I've learned a lot," Gabriel said.

"I'm so proud of myself, it's an amazing journey, and I'm so happy to continue it. I hope I win some trophies with this club, because I love this club and my family loves the club, too.

"Arsenal is an amazing club and I'm so proud to sign a new contract. I love the supporters, my teammates, I love this stadium. I'm so proud and thank you for all the support. We continue together for the future."

Since 2022 he has formed a strong partnership with William Saliba in the centre of defence, and proven to be a major threat from set pieces.

Gabriel missed the final two months of the 2024-25 season with a hamstring injury and his absence was keenly felt - Arsenal dropped out of the Premier League title race and were defeated in the Uefa Champions League semi-finals by eventual winners Paris St-Germain.

Meanwhile, the Gunners are hoping to complete a deal for Real Sociedad midfielder Martin Zubimendi, and are working to sign a new striker.

Rajasthan Cricket Association's internal disputes disappointing cricket lovers: Ashok Gehlot

Jaipur, June 6 (UNI) Former Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot on Friday expressed concern over the ongoing disputes within the Rajasthan Cricket Association (RCA), saying that the infighting has caused great disappointment among cricket lovers in the state.

Gehlot said since the BJP government came to power in the state, the RCA has been plagued by controversies, which have made it challenging to even organise IPL matches. He criticised the state government for remaining a silent spectator to the disputes between the ad-hoc committee, sports council, and sports department.

Gehlot pointed out that the ad-hoc committee, which was formed by the government, was only meant to be a temporary measure for three months, during which elections should have been held. However, elections have not been held for over a year and a half.

He recalled the positive developments that took place during Vaibhav Gehlot's tenure as RCA president, including the lifting of the ban imposed by the BCCI in 2019, the organisation of international and IPL matches in Rajasthan, and the renovation of the Barkatullah Khan Stadium in Jodhpur.

However, Gehlot lamented that the work on the proposed world-class cricket stadium in Jaipur, which was to be built in collaboration with the Vedanta group, has also come to a standstill. Gehlot urged the state government to intervene and put an end to the bitter infighting within the RCA, considering the future of cricket and cricketers in Rajasthan, as well as the sentiments of millions of cricket lovers.

Rahil Pillarisetty, Savion Sabu grab pole positions in Pro-Stock categories

Chennai, June 6 (UNI) : Hyderabad businessman Rahil Pillarisetty (RACR Castrol Power1) ended a four-year wait for a pole position as he topped the qualifying session in the premier Pro-Stock 301-400cc category to kickstart his campaign in the first round of the MRF MMSC-FMSCI Indian National Motorcycle Racing Championship 2025 at the Madras International Circuit, here on Friday.

Later, riding under dark rain clouds, Bengaluru's Savion Sabu (Mad Rabbit Racing) put the hammer down to qualify for pole position in the debut class, the Pro-Stock 165-200cc.

The 17-year-old clocked an impressive hot lap of 01:57.898 to outpace the 12-rider field, all on factory-supported GP 200R based on Apache RTR 200 4V that is specially crafted for racing.

In P2 was the experienced Coimbatore challenger Senthil Kumar (01:58.862) of RDX Torque Racing, ahead of Chennai's Venkatesan Iyappan (01:58.992) of Rookies Racing.

Equally impressive was Aizawl's 22-year-old Lal Nunsanga (Motul Sparks Racing) who grabbed the pole position in the Novice (Stock 165cc) class. It was his first pole in six years, the last being in the Idemitsu Honda India Talent Cup.

Mohamed Mikhail (Mad Rabbit Racing) from Thiruvallur, a graduate from the Idemitsu Honda India Talent Cup, also qualified for the pole position in the Stock 301-400cc (Novice) class.

A beaming Pillarisetty attributed his pole position to his Yamaha R3 and switching team to RACR after four seasons with Gusto Racing where he rode a KTM. "I am not surprised by the pole position.

I have always practiced on a Yamaha R3 though with Gusto I was on a KTM. But I am happy with my performance today and expect an exciting race tomorrow," said the 27-year-old Hyderabad.

In fact, Pillarisetty finished ahead of Hosur-based Alwin Sundar (Petronas TVS Racing), a former Novice National champion, who nudged out team-mate and reigning National champion Sarthak Chavan from Pune who had to be content with P3. The race is expected to be close as just 1.2 secs cover the top six qualifiers.

Nunsanga, who hails from a modest background and manages to participate in the championship courtesy local sponsors (airfare) and his team (accommodation), said, "It is because of their help that I can take part. My father is unable to work due to an accident some years ago and we are a family of five (now four after he lost his elder brother). We somehow survive. I also do some odd jobs and earn prize money, very small amounts, from local races. Anyway, I am very happy

Klugman ends GB's long wait for Paris junior finalist

Paris, June 6 (UNI) : Teenager Hannah Klugman underlined her potential by becoming the first British player in almost 50 years to reach a French Open junior singles final on Friday.

The 16-year-old fought back to win 1-6 6-3 6-3 against 18-year-old Bulgarian Rositsa Dencheva on the Roland Garros clay.

"I'm just a bit shocked, to be honest," Klugman said.

"I wasn't playing my best and I found it tough to get myself into the match.

"I felt like as soon as I did that I was in a good space and I thought I could do well if I got into the match."

Klugman, who was born in London and raised in Wimbledon, will play Austria's Lilli Tagger on Saturday for the trophy.

She is aiming to emulate Britain's Michelle Tyler, who won the French Open girls' title in 1976.

It is a first Grand Slam girls' singles final for the highly-rated Klugman, who already has some impressive results to her name.

She shot to wider prominence by winning the Orange Bowl junior championships in Florida at the age of 14.

Past winners of the Orange Bowl include French Open finalist Coco Gauff, as well as Grand Slam champions Chris Evert, Caroline Wozniacki and Bianca Andreescu.

Klugman has also contested two Grand Slam girls' doubles finals, losing the 2023 Wimbledon and this year's Australian Open trophy matches.

"I think I've been mentally very good this week. I think I'm staying calm in big moments, and also just trying to take it in," Klugman added.

"These moments don't happen a lot, so trying to enjoy it is a big part.

"My coach and physio are basically saying go out there and enjoy it because you might never be in the spot again."

Vinayak Bhoir stars in SoBo Mumbai Falcons' hat-trick win

Mumbai, June 6 (UNI) : Angkrish Raghuvanshi's heroics in the Powerplay and Vinayak Bhoir's all-round show helped SoBo Mumbai Falcons register a hat-trick of victories in T20 Mumbai league's third edition with a four-wicket win against Triumph Knights Mumbai North East on Friday.

Making their maiden appearance at the Wankhede Stadium and icon player Shreyas Iyer taking over there in for the first time, the SoBo Mumbai Falcons chased down a target of 146 with four balls to spare.

It was a high-profile clash between Shreyas and Suryakumar Yadav leading the two teams. While both the stalwart batters were dismissed early, it was the maidan 'crisis man' Bhoir, who rose to the occasion.

When Bhoir – the left-hander who had played his part with the ball with three economical overs – took to the crease, captain Shreyas had been dismissed, lbw off a flipper by leggie Parikshit Valsangkar. That dismissal pegged the Falcons back despite Raghuvanshi (42 off 25) tonking 22 runs in the last over of the Powerplay.

Even before Bhoir took guard, Harsh Aghav also got out and at 75 for five in the 11th over, the onus was on the allrounder duo of Bhoir and Parkar to take the game deep. The seasoned campaigners did so to perfection. Despite the pitch offering turn to spinners, the duo batted sensibly, focusing more on rotating strike rather than taking any undue risk.

With 30 required off 18 balls, Bhoir chased a wide delivery outside off stump by pacer Hrishikesh Gore and tonked him over long-off for a huge six. The next ball was cramped into his body, but he whipped it to the short boundary at square leg. While he perished later on in the same over trying to finish the proceedings off in a hurry, the damage had been done.

With five runs required off five balls, Parkar opened up his shoulders for the first time and finished the game off with a six over long-on.

Just like Thursday, though, the win was set by the Falcons' bowlers. Siddharth Raut started with a maiden and even though the in-form pacer had to head back to the dressing room after injuring himself, the rest of the well-oiled bowling pack never let the seasoned campaigners like Suryakumar and Siddhant Addhatrao cut loose. Had it not been for Suryansh Shedge's pyrotechnics in the end, the Falcons would have restricted the Knights to a sub-130 total.

Player of the Match: Vinayak Bhoir

Brief scores:

Triumph Knights Mumbai North East 145/5 (Siddhant Addhatrao 57, Suryansh Shedge 49*; Siddharth Raut 1/8, Yash Dicholkar 1/21, Vinayak Bhoir 1/21) lost to SoBo Mumbai Falcons 147/6 in 19.2 overs (Angkrish Raghuvanshi 42, Vinayak Bhoir 33, Akash Parkar 30 not out; Hitesh Kadam 2/22).

Jansen reveals Ponting's parting IPL gift ahead of WTC Final

Arundel (England), June 6 (UNI) : Marco Jansen has revealed the piece of sage advice he recently received from Australian great Ricky Ponting that has the South African quick in top form ahead of the ICC World Test Championship Final. Jansen was in scintillating form during the recent Indian Premier League (IPL) season, with the towering left-armer collecting 16 wickets from 14 matches for the Punjab Kings under the expert coaching of Ponting prior to meeting up with his international teammates ahead of the World Test Championship Final against Australia at Lord's from June 11.

It's the first time that Jansen's path has crossed with Ponting's and the South African has been supremely impressed with what the Punjab Kings coach achieved in his first year in charge of the franchise, as he led the side to a runners-up finish behind eventual champions Royal Challengers Bangalore. Jansen said Ponting had instilled great confidence in his bowling since he joined up with the Kings earlier this year and he is planning to use that newfound belief when the Proteas take on Australia in the one-off Ultimate Test.

"Before I left (India), he (Ponting) just said 'good luck, I hope you do well, but I hope you lose'," Jansen told ICC Digital from here on Tuesday after the opening day of South Africa's warm-up match against Zimbabwe was washed out due to persistent rain.

"I learnt a lot from him, especially from a mental point of view. He is always positive and he always sees the good stuff instead of the bad stuff, if it makes sense," he said.

"And I think that's why he's a legend of the game, because you always lean towards what could happen instead of what could go wrong. For me personally in the IPL, he's helped a lot in that regard, because he always reminds you what could be, what you can do and what could happen instead of what couldn't happen," Jansen said.

Recently, the Proteas announced that recently retired fast bowler Stuart Broad would join the team in a consulting role prior to the World Test Championship Final and this has Jansen excited about what advice he might receive from the England legend. Broad was known to get under the skin of Australia's batters during his illustrious Test career and took more than 110 wickets at the iconic Lord's venue alone and Jansen plans to pick the right-arm's brain prior to the start of the one-off Test in north London.

"Obviously, he's played a lot against Australia at Lord's," Jansen said of Broad. "Maybe I will pick his brain on what they did back then or what they did when he was playing to get certain batters out. And then, because I mean, you can ask all those questions and you can try and do it, but it doesn't mean it's going to work necessarily," he said. "You might get a guy out with a ball that you never even planned bowling. So it's good to have the information. But like I said, once you're on the pitch on that day, you have to figure it out for yourself and then whatever plan you have or plan you think could work, just try and do that and you hope it pays off and you hope you execute well," Jansen added.

Alcaraz enters final as Musetti retires injured

Paris, June 6 (UNI) : Carlos Alcaraz, the defending champion, secured his place in the Roland-Garros final for the second consecutive year after Lorenzo Musetti retired due to a left thigh injury early in the fourth set of their semifinal clash on Friday.

Musetti started the match strongly, taking the first set 6-4 by capitalizing on Alcaraz's unforced errors and maintaining consistent baseline play. The Italian fended off a break point at 3-3 and broke Alcaraz at 5-4 to clinch the set. In the second set, both players exchanged breaks early, with Alcaraz breaking to love for a 2-1 lead, only for Musetti to break back immediately. The set culminated in a tense tiebreak, where Alcaraz surged ahead to win 7-6(3), leveling the match. Alcaraz dominated the third set, winning it 6-0 in just 21 minutes, as Musetti began to show signs of physical discomfort. The Italian called for medical attention during the set, indicating a left thigh issue.

Inflation eases as RBI cuts repo rate to 5.5%

Mumbai, June 6 (UNI) The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday lowered its inflation forecast for the financial year 2025-26 to 3.7 per cent, down from the earlier projection of 4 per cent, reflecting the positive impact of easing global commodity prices. This represents one of the most optimistic inflation outlooks in recent years. Alongside this revision, the RBI reduced its key policy rate by 50 basis points to 5.5 per cent, aiming to support economic growth while keeping inflation in check. Governor Sanjay Malhotra noted that assuming normal monsoon conditions, inflation is expected to remain moderate throughout the year, with quarterly estimates ranging from 2.9 per cent in June to 4.4 per cent by March. April's retail inflation eased to 3.16 per cent, the lowest in nearly six years, driven by abundant food supplies and steady core inflation. The RBI highlighted record wheat and pulses production during the Rabi season, coupled with an anticipated above-average monsoon, as factors likely to sustain food availability and moderate prices.

Malhotra emphasized that inflation expectations, especially in rural areas, are trending downward, supported by forecasts of stable crude oil prices and other key commodities.
