Mumbai, Aug 30 (UNI) : Maratha reservation activist Manoj Jarange Patil has demanded that the government immediately issue an order declaring all Marathas in Marathwada as Kunbi.

Govt. extends tenure of Genealogy committees for issuing Kunbi certificates

Mumbai Aug 30 (UNI) : The government has extended the tenure of the genealogy committees set up at the taluka level, to issue Kunbi certificates to eligible members of the Maratha community until June 30, 2026, Social Justice Minister Sanjay Shirsat announced.

The move is seen as a significant step against the backdrop of the ongoing Maratha reservation agitation.

The high-level committee led by retired Justice Sandeep Shinde, formed to study the Maratha reservation issue, has also been granted an extension until December 31, 2025. Accordingly, the genealogy committees have been given additional time.

The taluka-level genealogy committees, headed by tehsildars, were originally constituted on January 25, 2024, with a mandate valid until June 30, 2025. However, since the decision to issue Kunbi certificates will be based on the recommendations of the Shinde committee, the government has extended their tenure by one more year.

documents were verified, OBCs are the same. Based on the committee's 13-month-long study, Jarange warned that he would not back down until the government issues

an order declaring Marathas in Marathwada as Kunbi. "If castes can be included in the OBC category, why can't Marathas be recognized as Kunbis?" he questioned.

Justice Shinde, in principle, accepted that Marathas in Marathwada were Kunbis, but clarified that Kunbi certificates would be issued individually, not to the entire community at once. He said the Hyderabad Gazette would be implemented, but said a detailed study on how to implement it was necessary, which could take up to six months.

Sharad Pawar calls for constitutional amendment to resolve Maratha reservation issue

Ahmednagar, Aug 30 (UNI) : Senior leader and NCP-SP supremo Sharad Pawar said that that a constitutional amendment is necessary to find a permanent solution to the ongoing Maratha reservation issue.

Citing the Supreme Court's directive that the reservation quota cannot exceed 50-52 percent, he pointed out that Tamil Nadu has managed to implement 72 percent reservation, which was upheld in the apex court. "If this can happen there, why not in Maharashtra?" he questioned while addressing the ongoing Maratha reservation issue.

Pawar emphasised that if the "overall progress of society is to be achieved, there is no alternative to reservation". "The quota limit must be increased, and the central government should take the initiative in this regard," he asserted. Highlighting agrarian distress, Pawar noted that with shrinking farmland and a growing farming-dependent population, agricultural income is insufficient to support families. "For the progress of farming communities, reservation is the only path," he stressed.

He also underlined the importance of "adopting modern technology and artificial intelligence in agriculture to increase productivity in smaller landholdings". He praised the Rayat Shikshan Sanstha for taking steps in this direction. Commenting on current social tensions, Pawar warned against the confrontation between Maratha and OBC communities over reservation, pointing out that both communities are largely backward and struggling. "Marathas are mainly dependent on farming, but agriculture alone cannot secure their future. Hence, reservation is their only option," he added.

Naveen urges Nadda to ensure urea supply for farmers

Bhubaneswar, Aug 30 (UNI) Expressing concern over the shortage of fertilisers in Odisha, Leader of Opposition Naveen Patnaik today urged the Centre to immediately supply urea in the larger interest of the state's farmers.

Patnaik, in a letter to union Fertilisers and Chemicals Minister J.P. Nadda, alleged widespread irregularities in fertiliser distribution across Odisha.

He said farmers are in distress due to shortages, adulteration, and the unavailability of urea in the open market.

"Farmers have even taken to the streets as the fertiliser crisis has become acute, particularly in tribal-dominated districts," Patnaik wrote.Highlighting the importance of agriculture to Odisha's economy, the former Chief Minister said over 70 per cent of the state's population depends on farming for livelihood.

Patnaik noted that Odisha, which once depended on other states for rice, has now become a major contributor to the country's public distribution system.

He attributed this success to the application of technology, timely availability of quality seeds, and efficient fertiliser distribution in the past two decades.

However, Patnaik alleged that despite government claims of having 7.94 lakh tonnes of fertilisers in stock, farmers are not getting adequate supplies.Urea, he said, is being sold at prices higher than the government's fixed rate, and he alleged that Odisha's state-run agency Markfed is diverting fertilisers to private dealers at discounted rates instead of supplying them directly to farmers. "It is a matter of serious concern that during the peak Kharif season, farmers are forced to leave their fields and protest on highways for fertilisers," Patnaik said.

Tampering in TOD meters ‘Two incidents revealed

(Standard Post Bureau)

Kalyan, Aug 30 : Mahavitaran has undertaken a campaign to remove old meters and install new TOD meters (Time of Day) in the state. Two incidents of tampering with these meters have been revealed in Badlapur and Vasai in Kalyan zone.

In Kalyan zone too, a large number of electricity consumers have replaced their old meters with new smart meters. Electricity bills. Some consumers are tampering with the meters to reduce them.

But in reality, consumers who use electricity between 9 am and 5 pm are getting a discount of 80 paise per unit.

It has become difficult to tamper with the TOD meters installed by Mahavitaran. Since the new TOD meters have a communication port, the Mahavitaran system gets information about the momentary electricity consumption of the consumer.

If the customer tampers with it, the meter is checked at that place and confirmed. If this TOD meter is tampered with, instead of reducing the electricity bill, it has increased.

The Quality Control

Department of Badlapur and Vasai subdivisions of Mahavitaran had been monitoring the electricity consumption of such suspected customers. When the customer's meter was actually installed, it was found to have been tampered with. Mahavitaran has started the process of filing a police complaint against such customers.

Tampering with electricity meters is a punishable offense. The Electricity Act provides for strict imprisonment or financial penalty for those who steal electricity. "Chief Engineer Chandramani Mishra has appealed that if it is found that the TOD meter of Mahavitaran is being tampered with, the nearest Mahavitaran office should be contacted.

Avoid statements that create social divide, says Ajit Pawar

Mumbai, Aug 30 (UNI) : Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar has appealed to political leaders and citizens not to make statements that could create discord in society. He emphasized that although the Constitution grants freedom of expression, this right should not be misused in a way that fuels social divisions. The Maratha reservation issue has once again come to the forefront due to activist Manoj Jarange Patil’s ongoing hunger strike. At the same time, sections of the OBC community have expressed fears that their quota may be threatened. Against this backdrop, Pawar urged everyone to maintain social harmony and avoid divisive rhetoric. Currently, Jarange’s hunger strike is taking place at Azad Maidan. OBC leader Prof. Laxman Hake has warned that if Jarange’s demands are accepted, the OBC community would suffer greatly. He further alleged that Jarange’s movement is not just about Maratha reservation but a conspiracy to topple the government led by Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, with some MLAs and MPs from Ajit Pawar’s party being allegedly involved.

Meanwhile, certain BJP leaders and some from the ruling Mahayuti alliance have been making aggressive statements, putting their own party in an awkward position. This has forced CM Fadnavis to reprimand his own colleagues.

Supporters of activist Manoj Jarange Patil, who is on hunger strike demanding Maratha reservation, gather outside Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus to join his agitation, in Mumbai on Saturday.

Babanrao Taywade plans OBC march to Mumbai to safeguard OBC quota from Jarange-Patil

Mumbai, Aug 30 (UNI) : Union Home Minister Amit Shah discussed the Maratha reservation issue with Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde for an hour today at the Sahyadri Guest House in Mumbai, even as Nagpur-based National OBC Federation president Dr Babanrao Taywade threatened a huge OBC march to Mumbai in 15 days, against Maratha reservation agitation leader Manoj Jarange's attempt to get reservations for Marathas under the OBC Kunbi category.

The National OBC Federation organised a relay hunger strike at the Samvidhan Chowk in Nagpur on Saturday to thwart Jarange-Patils's attempt to provide reservation to the Marathas by including them under the OBC Kunbi category.

Speaking to media persons in Nagpur on Saturday, National OBC

Federation president Dr Babanrao Taywade said, "We are against the demand for giving Kunbi certificates outright. There should be no setback to the reservation of the OBC community.

We will firmly present our demands to the government. Since there is a possibility of the Fadnavs government succumbing to pressure from Jarange-Patil, we have decided to go on a relay hunger strike, which will be followed by a hunger strike to death. If necessary, we will intensify our agitation by going to Mumbai and protesting there in 15 days."

"Jarange-Patil has rejected the demand for separate reservation. He wants reservation for Marathas by including them under the OBC Kunbi category itself.

The National OBC Federation is strongly opposed to the inclusion of Marathas under the OBC Kunbi category. There are already 350 castes in the OBC list.

If the Maratha community is also included in the OBC list, then the OBCs will not get anything. It will be injustice to OBCs. We are not against giving reservation to the Maratha community.

We will welcome it if the government gives Marathas separate reservation," National OBC Federation President Dr Babanrao Taywade said.

Significantly, while replying to media persons who asked Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) chief about his views on the Maratha quota agitation, Raj Thackeray said in Mumbai on Saturday, "Eknath Shinde can answer all these things.

Ask him when he comes. Why did he come back when he had gone to Navi Mumbai to resolve the issue?"

MNS chief Raj Thackeray's statement caused a flutter especially after a video of a Maratha woman activist talking to media persons went viral where she claimed that "Shinde Saheb" (Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde) "had made arrangements for our stay, sleep, food and drink".

The viral video also showed another woman stopping her from speaking any further and taking her aside. Meanwhile, at a meeting between union Minister Amit Shah and Eknath Shinde in Mumbai at Sahyadri Guest House on Saturday, various options were discussed to resolve the issue of Maratha reservation through dialogue between the Fadnavis government and the Maratha protesters, sources said.

Raj Thackeray corners CM Shinde over Maratha quota stir

Thane, Aug 30 (UNI) : Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) chief Raj Thackeray has taken a jibe at Chief Minister Eknath Shinde over the ongoing Maratha reservation agitation.

"During the last agitation, Shinde himself claimed to have resolve the issue. Then, why have the agitators returned to Mumbai again? Ask Shinde," Thackeray told media. Thackeray was in Thane to meet MNS office-bearers and review preparations for the upcoming municipal elections.

When asked about the Maratha reservation, he said, "All questions on the Maratha quota and protests can only be answered by Shinde.

Ask him when he comes." Meanwhile, CM Shinde met union Home Minister Amit Shah in Mumbai today. The hour-long meeting reportedly focused on the upcoming municipal elections in Mumbai, Thane, and Palghar, along with discussions on the Maratha reservation issue.

National General Secretary Vinod Tawde and discussed the Maratha reservation issue including the current status of the Maratha agitation, police arrangements and demands made by Maratha protesters.

In a related development, the Maharashtra state government's Maratha Reservation Sub-Committee formed a Justice Shinde Committee under the leadership of retired Justice Shinde on Saturday to find Kunbi and evaluate caste records.

Justice Shinde Committee members went to Azad Maidan on Saturday and met Manoj Jarange-Patil, requesting him for some time to implement his demands, but Jarange-Patil has stated that he will not give "even a minute" of time to implement the recommendations of gazettes of Hyderabad and Satara.

"The Shinde Committee has studied this a lot. According to the Hyderabad and Satara gazettes, the Marathas of Marathwada are Kunbis. There is no dispute about that. We will give 15 to 20 days to implement the gazette recommendations of Aundh and Bombay, but we will not give even a minute to implement the gazette recommendations of Hyderabad and Satara. We already gave 13 months of time. If nothing happens by next Saturday and Sunday, not a single Maratha child will stay at home. Marathas from all over Maharashtra will not be seen in their homes. There are still six or seven days left," Jarange-Patil said, adding that Marathas in Marathwada should be declared as Kunbi and given caste certificates from Sunday (tomorrow) itself.

Corruption allegations rock Tuljabhavani Temple priest committee; Former President demands dissolution

Dharashiv, Aug 30 (UNI) : Maharashtra’s revered Tuljabhavani Temple has once again landed in controversy, with allegations of corruption rocking the temple’s priest committee.

Former president of the priest committee, Kishor Gangane, has accused the current body of indulging in corrupt practices and has demanded that the committee be dissolved. He has also urged the Charity Commissioner to take strict action and register criminal cases against the present office-bearers.

In response, current president Vipin Shinde dismissed the charges, claiming that Gangane was making allegations at the behest of vested interests.

Shinde alleged that Gangane had accepted “supari” (bribes) to target the committee and insisted that the real culprits behind temple mismanagement would soon be exposed. He further argued that Gangane’s opposition to the Tuljapur Temple development plan was the reason behind his accusations.

Meanwhile, the temple trust has already been under scrutiny for multiple issues. Recently, cracks appearing on the sacred stones inside the sanctum sparked concern.

The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) has conducted an inspection and submitted its report to the state archaeology department, whose decision is now awaited by the district administration.

US tariffs impact Banarasi saree exports, industry faces challenges

The world-famous Banarasi saree and silk industry is facing a severe impact due to tariffs imposed by the US. Following the imposition of tariffs, large orders from the US are being cancelled, and foreign traders have started returning shipments, say traders.

According to the Varanasi Textile Industry Association, if this situation persists, the city could suffer losses of up to Rs 300 crore annually. This crisis has put the livelihoods of thousands of artisans at risk, and the industry is now staring at large-scale unemployment.

Rajan Bahl, vice president of Banarasi Textile Industry Association, stated: “Exports of Banarasi sarees will decline by 15 to 20 per cent due to these tariffs. Handloom products will be the most affected. Though the current losses may appear small, the future impact will be severe. Every year, exports worth Rs 200 to Rs 300 crore were sent to the US, which is now under threat. Orders are being cancelled, and no new orders are coming in. I firmly believe this is not a minor loss; it is a major blow to Banaras and its industry. Orders are being cancelled, and we cannot expect fresh orders going forward.”

He further added that the number of handlooms is already decreasing, and these tariffs will only accelerate the decline. He appealed to the government for immediate intervention to save the industry.

Local saree trader Sarvesh Kumar Srivastava said: “The tariffs have seriously impacted our business. Recently, goods worth Rs 10 lakh were returned. The weavers’ livelihoods are in jeopardy. Finished products have been put on hold, and payments are stuck. I employ 20 workers, and holding Rs 20 lakh worth of goods has caused significant losses.”

He explained that traders, already facing economic challenges, are now under increased pressure due to the tariffs. Srivastava demanded that the government exempt handloom and handicraft sectors from GST.

“Removing the 5 per cent GST on handloom and handicrafts would provide relief to the industry. It would boost demand in the domestic market and attract the middle class back to Banarasi sarees,” he said.

He added: "I believe GST exemption could bring a revival in the industry, providing support to weavers and traders alike. The tariff-related crisis has not only caused economic losses but also endangered the livelihoods of thousands of artisans and their families. The government must intervene immediately. Without prompt action, this industry could slip into deeper crisis.”

From Isolation to Integration: The Bairabi–Sairang Rail Revolution

(Standard Post Bureau)

Throughout decades, Mizoram is considered one of the most beautiful yet remote states in India—green hills sweeping into the misty air, miles of bamboo forests, and cultural communities that have been geographically isolated. Hitherto, the state of Mizoram, the capital of which is called Aizawl, took five hours to be reached via a road network of narrow highways that destroyed every time there was a monsoon. A 51.38-km-long engineering wonder, the BairabiSairang railway line has cost a little over 8000 crores to transform this fact.

The 45-tunnel 153-bridge line, which features the second tallest pier bridge in the country, 114 meters (taller than the Qutub Minar) now links Mizoram to the national railway grid. This project, which is more of a construction success, is already transforming the economy of Mizoram, its society, and strategic value.

A Lifeline of Connectivity

The railway cuts reduce the road distance of seven hours between Aizawl and Silchar into mere 3 hours of the train thus making movement much faster, safe, and economical. Passenger trains can now serve at speeds of up to 100 kmph and so residents are now able to access healthcare centers, universities and commercial centers with a great deal of reliability.

That is not just convenience. It is estimated that the regional GDP growth could be enhanced by 2-3 percent each year due to better connectivity as more people can travel without travel barriers and more people have access to the economy. To a small state such as that of Mizoram, where the Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) is about ' 25,000 crore, a 2 percent increase would translate into an extra 500 crore revenue into the economy every year.

Economic Growth and Prosperity

The most observable change is economic. The railway has made it easier to access the Indian wider markets by transporting the agricultural produce of Mizoram (bamboo, chillies, oranges, ginger, and pineapple) at a drastically reduced cost. Currently, post-harvest losses due to poor transport in the Northeast average around 25–30%. Through rail connectivity, it is projected that the level of spoilage will reduce to half and this will increase the incomes of farmers directly.

There is also local entrepreneurs to benefit. The costs of logistics that used to cost 15-20 per kg by road should come down by 30-40 percent through rail. The savings are spread to other areas: vital commodities like fuel, cement and daily grocers are estimated to fall by 10-20 percent, making life in the state more affordable to more than 1.2 million of Mizoram people.

Another multiplier is job creation. The project created thousands of construction and engineering employment during the course of construction. In the future, economists estimate 3,000-5,000 of the indirect jobs each year in the logistics, hospitality, retail and tourism associated with the railway. This would bring the unemployment level in Mizoram, which is already higher than that of the country, closer to equilibrium.

Tourism and Trade as Growth Engines

Mizoram has been a long unrecognized tourism gem. Its untouched hills, traditional festivals and eco-tourism potential was limited by inaccessible location. Rail accessibility means that the government estimates that tourist arrivals would increase by 40-50 percent within the next five years, an influx that would drive up sales in hotels, homestays, handicraft markets and transport services.

Trade, too, is poised for a leap. The railway connects Mizoram to the rest of India and places it near Myanmar’s Sittwe Port, thus placing the state into international supply networks as part of the Act East Policy of India. Planned extensions Mizoram may become a transit hub with a value of between 10-12 billion dollars in trade between India and Southeast Asia in the next ten years.

Social Integration and Inclusion

The railway has strong social overtones to do with more than economics. In the past, the isolation of Mizoram gave rise to a feeling of physical and psychological detachment to the mainstream of India. That gap is now bridged symbolically and practically by rail connectivity, which makes national cohesion stronger.

Improved transport also implies improved governance delivery. There is easy access of teachers to schools located far, faster transportation of doctors and medicines and more access of government officials to the communities previously considered remote.

Relief supplies can now also be transported by train in case of a disaster with the risk of lives being saved in the event of floods and landslides which are common in the area.

Sustainability and Resilience

There was a tremendous technical and human cost to building the line through the steep hills of Mizoram. Landslides, challenging geology, and a tragic bridge collapse that killed 26 workers in 2023, which occurred with the project, were common. Nevertheless, the construction of the line was done with an eco-sensitive approach in mind—long tunnels and elevated viaducts minimize on-site deforestation and destruction of habitats.

The railway establishes a new people-centered infrastructure by engaging the locals and reducing displacement. It shows how development can be done at levels of ecological sustainability despite fragile landscapes.

The Numbers That Tell the Story

The BairabiSairang line of rail might not be much more than 51.38 kilometers, but in those 51.38 kilometers there is a tale of change. Five of these stations, four of them brand new at Hortoki, Kawnpui, Mualkhang, and Sairang, now make Mizoram squarely on the Indian railroad map. Engineers constructed an impressive 153 bridges, including India’s second tallest pier bridge at 114 meters above the valley, higher than the Qutub Minar, and excavated 45 tunnels along with a 12.8 kilometers-long path through some of the most stubborn rock to cut this route.

Even the budget of this grandiose project increased to almost 8,000 crore as compared to its original budget of 5,020 crore, but the fruits of this project would be even bigger. Economists estimate that it will increase Mizoram Gross State Domestic Product at an annual rate of 500-700 crores which is impressive considering that the state is only 1.2 million. Poor access has long been a limiting factor in tourism and this is projected to increase by 40-50 percent in the coming five years making the hills and festivals of Mizoram accessible to the rest of the world. This will also bring a difference to everyday life, with freight, and necessities (fuels, food, etc) becoming cheaper, the living cost will go down by 10-20 percent. Behind all the bridges, all the tunnels, all the meters of railroad track are not only steel and stone, but also the assurance of a better future and a new identity of Mizoram.

From Isolation to Integration

The BairabiSairang railway is not an ordinary series of steel tracks over the hills of Mizoram; it is a metaphor of change. It is rewriting the socio-economic fate of the state by cutting down time of travelling, cutting down costs, improving agriculture, promoting tourism and linking Mizoram to international markets.

To the 1.2 million people of Mizoram, these trains carry with them a lot more than passengers and freight they carry prosperity, inclusion, and opportunity. To India, the line is a major victory that made a formerly distant frontier into a bridge to Southeast Asia.

There is more in the rhythm of the trains now resounding in the valleys of Mizoram, that development may be inclusive and sustainable and even extensive, and may convert the margins into developmental centers.

RERA reshapes India’s housing market, instils higher investor confidence: Knight Frank India

(Standard Post Bureau)

Knight Frank India, a leading real estate consultancy, together with NAREDCO, has launched its new report RERA’s Reign – Charting Real Estate Growth Post-2016, which examines the Act’s transformative role in India’s housing market. The report highlights how the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (RERA) has transformed India’s housing market by instilling transparency, discipline, and long-term confidence. It showcases that RERA has successfully moderated runaway housing prices while restoring consumer trust and attracting institutional capital to the sector.

According to the report, with the implementation of RERA, speculative pricing in the housing market was brought under effective checks and balances. This policy intervention played a central role in aligning price growth with market fundamentals. Over time, with due processes in place and business restructuring on the supply side, the residential property market in India registered the much awaited growth post the last down cycle.

Source: Knight Frank Research

Shishir Bajjal, Chairman and Managing Director, Knight Frank India, said, “RERA has been one of the most impactful reforms for India’s housing market in recent times, making the sector more transparent and instilling accountability. Transparency and delivery discipline have given consumers the confidence to return to the market, while institutional investors are once again viewing residential real estate as a credible long-term investment story. This renewed balance in India’s housing market will go a long way in achieving sustainable growth.”

The implementation of RERA has helped shift the housing sector away from speculative cycles, forcing developers to adopt compliance, transparency, and delivery-focused practices. For consumers, the result has been fairer pricing and renewed confidence in housing as a stable asset class.

Investor Confidence Peaks

Alongside improved affordability, investor confidence in Indian real estate has climbed steadily in the post-RERA era. The report highlights that cumulative private equity inflows surged to USD 26 bn between 2017–2020, compared to just USD 17.5 bn during 2011–2016. This influx of institutional capital reflects greater trust in the sector’s regulatory environment, signalling the success of RERA in building a more credible investment landscape.

The performance of the NIFTY Realty Index further demonstrates this trend, showing stability and resilience in the post-RERA years. Large investors, once wary of opacity and delayed delivery, now view Indian real estate as a more predictable and disciplined market. According to the report, this structural shift has positioned India’s housing market as a long-term investment destination for both domestic and global players.

RERA’s National Footprint

Beyond prices and investments, RERA’s scale of implementation underlines its importance as the backbone of India’s housing market. By mid-2025, nearly 1.5 lakh projects and 1 lakh agents had been registered under the Act, while 1.5 lakh consumer complaints were successfully resolved

This regulatory reach demonstrates not only the seriousness of RERA’s enforcement but also its growing acceptance among homebuyers and developers alike. For the first time, Indian homebuyers have had recourse to a structured grievance redressal mechanism, and developers have had to align their practices with strict compliance standards.

The result has been a more transparent housing market, where accountability, timely delivery, and financial discipline are no longer exceptions but expectations.

Saurabh Mehrotra, Executive Director–Valuation and Advisory, Knight Frank India, said, “For investors, this regulatory environment has helped create transparency and credibility in the

3 killed, 94 injured in train accident in NW Egypt

Cairo, Aug 30 (UNI) : Three people were killed and 94 others injured after a train derailed in Egypt's northwestern Matrouh governorate, the Health Ministry said today.The injured were taken to nearby hospitals for treatment, the ministry stated.According to the National Railways Authority, seven carriages of the train, which was traveling from Marsa Matrouh to Cairo, derailed, with two overturning.

Technical teams and equipment were dispatched to clear the wreckage and restore service.

British PM vows to detain, send back illegal migrants amid mounting pressure

London, Aug 30 (UNI) : British Prime Minister Keir Starmer today pledged to detain and send back illegal migrants as the government faces mounting pressure to tackle Channel crossings and the issue of asylum hotels.

"I am clear: we will not reward illegal entry. If you cross the Channel unlawfully, you will be detained and sent back," Starmer said on social media platform X.His remarks came as several demonstrations were held across England on Saturday, including in London, Skegness and Gloucester, where asylum seekers are being housed in hotels. Five people were arrested in west London.

Thousands had attended protests over the summer, which began after an asylum seeker housed at a hotel was arrested and subsequently charged with several offenses, including the alleged sexual assault of a 14-year-old girl.The number of asylum seekers being housed in hotels rose to more than 32,000 in the year to June, according to Home Office data.

The government had promised to close asylum hotels by the time of the next general election. Britain and France are trialing a scheme to send migrants arriving on small boats across the English Channel back to France in exchange for the same number of asylum seekers being brought to Britain on a legal route. But the numbers involved in this scheme are likely to represent only a small fraction of those who arrive.

UN mission voices concern over troop buildup around Libya's capital

Tripoli, Aug 30 (UNI) :The UN Support Mission in Libya (UNSMIL) expressed deep concern today over continued troop and heavy weapons buildup around the capital Tripoli, warning that the "dangerous development" poses "potential harm" to civilians.

Noting that ongoing talks on security arrangements in Tripoli since June have made progress, UNSMIL in a statement, urged "all parties to continue dialogue to resolve this matter as soon as possible, and exercise maximum restraint to avoid escalating tensions or endangering civilians."The most recent buildup is "causing widespread fear among Tripoli's population," it said, warning that any use of force could lead to violent clashes in the densely-populated city.

It pledged continued support for mediation efforts to sustain a truce in Libya announced in May.

The statement came amid rising security tensions around Tripoli since the evening on August 27, when limited clashes reportedly erupted in some areas of the capital.

Following the clashes, forces loyal to the UN-recognised Government of National Unity (GNU) were reportedly advancing from Misurata, 200 km east of Tripoli, and from Gharyan, 100 km south, towards the capital.

However, according to a report by news website 'The Libya Update', Libyan authorities said most of the ongoing buildup is "part of normal military activity."

Libya has remained divided since the 2011 NATO-backed uprising that toppled longtime leader Muammar Gaddafi. The country is split between rival administrations: the GNU in Tripoli and an eastern-based government backed by the Libyan National Army (LNA) under commander Khalifa Haftar.

The Libyan Army, part of the country's broader military forces, is referred to in contrast to the LNA, which retains its separate identity.Tripoli has seen recurrent outbreaks of violence recently, including major clashes in mid-May between forces loyal to the GNU and the Stability Support Apparatus, a heavily armed faction with influence in the capital. says after the deadly clashes, UNSMIL announced the establishment of a truce committee jointly with the country's Presidency Council, which serves as the supreme commander of the Libyan Army

Ukraine rejects EU proposal for creating buffer zone between Ukraine-Russia troops, calls it unrealistic

Brussels/Kyiv, Aug 30 (UNI) : In the hopes of a possible resolution, European leaders have been floating around the proposal to establish a 40 km buffer zone between Russian and Ukrainian forces as part of a potential peace deal, though Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky has rejected the idea, deeming it unrealistic, not in synch with realities of modern warfare, and tantamount to ceding territory which Kyiv has time and again refused to agree to.

"Only those who do not understand the technological state of today's war propose a buffer zone," he told reporters on Friday, stressing that drones already create a "dead zone" of some 10km where heavy artillery cannot operate.

He warned that any arrangement forcing Ukraine to withdraw would amount to territorial concessions "If Russia wants greater distance, they can retreat deeper into the temporarily occupied territories," reports BBC.

Five European diplomats told reporters that the plan — one of several under discussion for either a ceasefire or postwar settlement — would require a significant international peacekeeping force to patrol the strip of land.As per the proposal, estimates of the peace forces would range from 4,000 to 60,000 troops, with French and British units to form the backbone of any deployment, though it was also questioned whether Moscow would agree to the deployment of NATO troops near Russia.

The United States has also maintained that it won't deploy any boots on the ground, and will play a very minimal role in case of a ceasefire, limiting its support only to satellite intelligence and air surveillance.

While Moscow has staunchly refused to allow any NATO troops on Russian soil, including in the territory it controls in Ukraine, it did signal its support for the buffer arrangements.

The buffer zone proposal comes amid mounting pressure on Western leaders to find a path to end the war, now entering its fourth year.

Hopes for reaching a peace a settlement have been deemed increasingly slim, post the failure of the August 15 Anchorage summit in achieving a resolution.German Chancellor Friedrich Merz also made no efforts to hide his strong hostility to the Kremlin, stating he would "obviously not" meet with President Vladimir Putin, whom he accused of showing no interest in peace.

French President Emmanuel Macron likewise echoed the sentiment, warning that Moscow was "playing for time" and vowing to increase pressure.

On Thursday, Russia launched one of its heaviest aerial assaults on Kyiv, firing 629 drones and missiles that killed at least 23 people, further antagonising Europe, with two missiles striking near the EU offices which drew sharp condemnation from Brussels.EU foreign policy chief Kaja Kallas denounced the attack as a "deliberate escalation" and urged stronger security guarantees for Ukraine.

While Estonia has pledged troops for any buffer arrangement, Poland and Germany have ruled out direct deployments, citing risks to their own security. Warsaw in particular fears that shifting NATO forces into Ukraine could weaken the alliance's eastern flank.

Zelensky's chief of staff Andriy Yermak held talks in New York with U.S. envoy Steve Witkoff, Secretary of State Marco Rubio, and Vice President JD Vance.

Ex-Ukrainian National Security Council head Parubiy wanted in Russia

Moscow, Aug 30 (UNI) : Former Secretary of Ukraine's National Security and Defense Council, Andriy Parubiy, who was shot dead in Lvov (also known as Lviv) on Saturday, had been listed as a wanted criminal by the Russian Interior Ministry since 2023, police records show.

Earlier in the day, Ukrainian police reported the killing of "a well-known public and political figure born in 1971" in Lvov. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy confirmed Parubiy's death. A Ukrainian newspaper, Strana.ua, reported that he was shot dead in the street by a man posing as a courier.

According to Russian police data, Parubiy has been wanted by the Interior Ministry since November 2023. The Russian Investigative Committee charged Parubiy in absentia for atrocities committed in Donbas in 2014, which left 1,200 people dead or injured.

In April, a member of the Ukrainian Stop Grave resistance group told Sputnik that an investigation into a deadly fire at the Trade Unions House in Odesa, which killed 48 people and injured more than 250 others on May 2, 2014, was obstructed by a group of journalists established by then-National Security and Defense Council chief Parubiy.

Beauty

Get rid of whiteheads to prevent Acne

Whiteheads are caused due to build-up of oil, serum and dead skin that plugs up your pores. They clog your skin's pores and result in pimples.

A repeated occurrence of whiteheads can cause a serious problem of acne. But the good news is that whiteheads can be treated effectively at home. With a little effort and a regular skincare routine, you can keep whiteheads at bay. Follow these steps to get flawless skin:

Wash your face regularly. It makes skin oil-free, which would otherwise result in whiteheads. For best results, use a non-oily face wash and not the one that has glycerine as one of its contents.

Make sure that your hair is washed. Often greasy hair contributes to more oil on the surface of your skin. Dandruff is also one of the major causes of whiteheads and acne. Use an anti-dandruff shampoo once a week to keep your scalp clean.

Avoid oily makeup and lotions as they clog the pores the most. They make matters worse and lead to breakouts. Before buying a cosmetic, check out its oil content. Clean your face with a cleanser every day before going to bed.

Dab on a little tree tea oil before going to bed. Tea tree oil prevents whiteheads, blackheads and acne. This oil, surprisingly, does not clog pores. It also prevents breakouts. Scrub your face once a week. Because using a face wash alone won't be enough. To get rid of the sebum that accumulates in pores, gently scrub your face and wash it off with cold water.

Here's how to protect your skin this Summer

Summer is a time to wear all those dresses, shorts and skirts that you had put away during winter. The sun is out and is shining bright, inviting you to soak it up over Sunday brunches and early evening walks. But the increased exposure to sun brings with it skin problems. Here's how to keep your skin healthy and radiant during this season...

Exfoliate: You may think that exfoliating your skin is something that is done only during winter, but it is equally important in summer. Your body sheds skin cells regardless of the weather, so it is vital to scrub them off to avoid making your skin look dull and dry .

Hydrate: Moisturize, even if you have oily skin. As the temperature rises, swap your heavy body lotions for lighter ones.You could also use gels and purees as they absorb better into your skin.

Sunscreen: This is perhaps the most important tool to help fight sun issues during summer. Pick a sunscreen that is SPF 50 and above to protect yourself against the harmful effects of the sun.

De-tan: Even with sunscreen, your skin is likely to get tanned.But don't fret. If you are the type that doesn't fancy a tan, then just mix gram flour with yogurt and a few drops of lemon, and use this as a facemask to get rid of an uneven tan.

Water: Increase your water intake at this time of the year as you tend to get dehydrated quicker during summer. If it is not given enough water, your body tends to sap moisture from your hair and skin, leaving both dry and listless. So, drink up.

Toner: Use a toner to keep your pores closed and your skin cool. If you don't want to use chemicals, you could opt for rose water instead. Rose water's natural cooling properties make it ideal to soothe irritated and over-exposed skin.

Go bananas for Beauty!

While it is known that this humble fruit may have a host of health benefits, bananas also offer several beauty benefits. Available throughout the year, bananas are a powerhouse of nutrients and are great for your skin and hair as well. Here are some benefits...

- The fruit contains generous amounts of vitamin C and B6, which ensure that your skin remains supple and elastic. Apart from that, bananas also have antioxidants that protect your skin from premature ageing.
- The water content present in bananas keeps your skin well hydrated so that it doesn't get flaky and dry. It works as a great moisturiser as well. This is because it comprises vitamin A, which helps your skin recover the moisture it has lost.
- One of the best ways to moisturise your skin is to use a mashed banana and liberally rub it all over your face and neck. After leaving the pulp on your face for about half an hour, wash it off.
- You also treat pigmented skin with bananas. Simply add a tablespoon of honey to banana pulp and apply it on your skin.
- Have to go to an important function and don't have time to visit the parlour? Simply take a banana and add yogurt, honey and almonds to it. Make a paste and apply it all over your face. Not only will this moisturise your face but also remove excess oil and add a glow to your skin.
- For those who want to get rid of marks and scars left on the skin due to acne and pimples, bananas are a helpful aid. The vitamin C they contain lightens blemishes caused by skin aggravation.
- Bananas also work as great exfoliators. Simply mix jaggery and mashed bananas together and use the paste as a scrub on your face and neck.
- Is the skin on your hands and heels dry, flaky or cracked? Let a banana come to your rescue. Simply mix mashed banana with some rose water and apply on the affected areas.

Of course wallet is a must-carry in your handbag, but apart from the regular stuff, one must have a mini summer kit in their handbag this summer. Check if you have these following things in your handbag before you step out in this scorching heat.

Summer kit for your Handbag

Small umbrella

Try to carry a mini-umbrella in your kit. This will help you to protect your skin from sun tan and dehydration.

Compact

One cannot maintain the freshness of the face all day this summer. But, a compact will help to an extent. Compact powder not only removes excess oil on your face, but also hydrates the skin and makes you look clean and fresh.

Wet wipes

If you feel tired or look a bit dull, just wipe your face with wet wipes and refresh yourself.

Hairpins and hair bands

In this hot sun, leaving the hair loose is not a comfortable option. Even if you do so, you may need a hairpin or a hair band to tie it up some time during your travel. So, always put a few hair pins and hair bands in your bags for an instant hair-do. Also, hair tends to be frizzy this season, so hairstyles do not hold for long and hence you will definitely need these.

Sanitizer

It is better to be safe and avoid picking up infections.So, pin up a small sanitizer in your handbag and clean your hands as often as you need to.

Water bottle

Always carry a small water bottle in your bag. You will not know when you may need one during the day .Since parched throat might cause dehydration, this is a must-carry .

Deo

Summer means frequent sweating and deos are a must-carry to keep you fresh. Sweat also can make you stink and staying odourfree is important. Always carry a fragrant deo to smell good this summer.

Small towel

Keep a small towel in your handbag. You may wash your face and hands quite often at your work place this season, and having a small towel could come in handy in drying yourself.

Sunglasses

Don't forget to take your sunglasses. They might be worn as a style statement during other seasons, but during summer, they help you escape the heat. Also choose glasses, preferably wraparound ones, that offer complete UV protection.

Stole

Just keep a stole, preferably made of cotton, in your handbag as this might help you cover your head when you have to walk in the sun. It also helps to protect your hair.

Safe ways to colour your hair during Pregnancy

Don't stop yourself from colouring your hair during pregnancy. Here's what to keep in mind.

Pregnancy makes a woman glow with health and beauty and it shouldn't stop her from enhancing her hair with additional colour. Most bleaches and hair dyes contain harmful chemicals, which when absorbed through the scalp, can enter the bloodstream. So the general tendency is to take a break from hair colour when you are expecting if you want to play it completely safe. Since you are going through crazy hormonal changes, your mane also gets affected and may not take to hair colour. However, don't stop yourself from a colour job or from dyeing your roots. Covering greys is a must, whether you are pregnant or not, and infusing colour will give a fresh change to your usual look.

Keep these tips in mind:

- Pick ammonia-free hair colour. If you are colouring at home, buy hair colour that doesn't contain any ammonia. For salon-based colouring, ask your stylist to do the same. It might not give you the intense colour that others would, but it's safe.
- Go ombre instead of global colouring. The ombre (or dip-dye) technique refers to colouring only the hair tip so the product doesn't touch your scalp.
- Dilute the colour to make it more tolerable to your scalp. Effective and non-toxic options to dilute the hair dye are water or almond, sunflower or jojoba oil.
- Always do a patch test before colouring.
- If you feel an irritation, develop a rash or get nauseous from the fumes, wash off the dye immediately.

Gauff storms into US Open Round 16

New York, Aug 30 (UNI) : American star Coco Gauff delivered a statement performance today as she eased into the round of 16 at the US Open 2025, beating Poland’s Magdalena Frech 6-3, 6-1 in just over an hour at the Arthur Ashe Stadium.

Seeded third, Gauff showed the form and composure that has made her one of the top contenders for the title. The 20-year-old dropped just four games in a match that showcased her consistency, variety, and tactical intelligence.

Her serve, which had wavered earlier in the week, clicked smoothly as she landed 76 percent of first serves and won 25 of 35 points behind them.Gauff also demonstrated her ability to reset under pressure. At 4-1 in the opening set, she faced a shaky service game with two double faults but managed to hold, forcing Frech into errors at crucial moments. She sealed the first set 6-3 before racing through the second with relentless shot-making and clever use of her forehand slice to disrupt her opponent’s rhythm.

"I played well. It was tough playing two night matches and then coming back with shade on the court today, it was hard to see the ball," Gauff said in her post-match interview. "It’s been an emotional week. I was putting too much pressure on myself, but I’m learning to enjoy it and focus on the process instead of just the result."

This victory marks the fourth consecutive year that Gauff has reached the round of 16 in New York, further underlining her consistency at Grand Slams.

The home favorite has quickly become a fan magnet at Flushing Meadows, drawing strong support inside Arthur Ashe Stadium as she looks to emulate her US Open triumph in 2023.

The world No. 3 will next face either Daria Kasatkina or two-time US Open champion Naomi Osaka in what promises to be one of the most anticipated clashes of the second week.

Meanwhile, the women’s draw remains loaded with star power, with defending champion Iga Swiatek scheduled for action later in the evening. But for the moment, it was Gauff’s dominant showing that set the tone for Day 7.

Arshdeep toiling hard to stay fit for Asia Cup

Bengaluru, Aug 30 (UNI) : India’s fast bowler Arshdeep Singh is entering the 2025 Asia Cup in peak form after an intensive preparation phase in the Duleep Trophy, ensuring he is fully ready to contribute to India’s pace attack in Abu Dhabi.

With India’s first match against the UAE on September 10, followed by games against Pakistan and Oman, Arshdeep’s fitness, adaptability, and mental toughness are expected to be vital assets for the team.

After a nearly three-month break from competitive cricket following IPL 2025, where he finished as Punjab Kings’ highest wicket-taker with 21 wickets, Arshdeep used his Duleep Trophy stint with North Zone against East Zone in Bengaluru to fine-tune both his physical and mental game.

Bowling 17 overs on the second day — the most by any North Zone bowler — he highlighted the importance of long spells in preparing for high-pressure international tournaments. “I felt really good with the number of overs I got. My body feels well after 15-17 overs, and the ball is coming out nicely. Not many wickets today, but they will come in the future,” he said.

Arshdeep emphasized that his current focus is on mindset, particularly learning to enjoy the “boring times” in red-ball cricket.

“In the session after lunch, mostly the ball doesn’t do anything. How you enjoy that phase tells you how successful you can be in red-ball cricket,” he said, crediting advice from fellow fast bowler Mohammed Siraj. This mental approach will help him maintain patience and consistency, qualities crucial in both red-ball and white-ball formats.

During the hiatus from matches, Arshdeep worked extensively on strength, conditioning, and fitness to handle the workload of long spells.

“When you are not playing, you push your limits in training — more overs, more strength, more practice. The aim is to stay ready whenever you get a chance,” he said, underscoring his disciplined preparation for the upcoming Asia Cup.

Switching formats will be key, and Arshdeep has already been practising with the white ball to ensure a smooth transition. “Red ball, white ball, or pink ball — you have to play cricket and enjoy it. The mindset is about how quickly you can adapt according to the situation, wicket, and weather. Knowing when to put in effort and when to conserve energy is key,” he added.

With India arriving in Dubai for Asia Cup preparations on September 4, Arshdeep Singh’s blend of fitness, adaptability, and mental resilience positions him as a key component in India’s plans to strengthen their bowling resources across formats.

Newcastle sign Woltemade in club record £69m deal

London, Aug 30 (UNI) : Newcastle United have completed the club record signing of striker Nick Woltemade from Stuttgart on a six-year contract.

The 6ft 6in (1.98m) Germany international, 23, has joined Newcastle in a deal worth up to £69m. This eclipses the £63m Newcastle paid to make Alexander Isak the most expensive player in the club’s history three years ago.

Woltemade, who will wear the number 27, has not been registered in time to make his debut against Leeds United on Saturday. But Woltemade will have a huge role to play moving forward, given the ongoing uncertainty surrounding the future of Isak - who remains determined to join Liverpool, according to a BBC news.

"I'm really happy to be at this amazing club," he said. "From the first contact, I felt like the club really wanted me and had big plans for me.

"It's a big step in my life to leave Germany but everybody has welcomed me so well and it already feels like family.

I have a really good feeling from speaking to the head coach that this is the right place for me to find my best level.

"I know the stadium from watching games on television - it looks amazing and I know the atmosphere is crazy. I'm really excited to play and start scoring goals here."

Rajasthan Royals part ways with Dravid

Jaipur, Aug 30 (UNI) : Rajasthan Royals announced today that head coach Rahul Dravid will not continue with the franchise in any capacity ahead of IPL 2026, ending his second stint with the team.

A franchise statement highlighted Dravid’s pivotal role over the years, saying, "his leadership has influenced a generation of players, built strong values within the squad, and left an indelible mark on the culture of the franchise." Following a structural review, Dravid was offered a broader position within the RR, but he chose not to take it. The 52-year-old legend, who returned to Rajasthan Royals in September 2024 after guiding India to a T20 World Cup title, saw his second tenure cut short after a disappointing 2025 season. The Rajasthan Royals finished ninth, winning only four of 14 games, with several close matches slipping away. Dravid also spent much of the season confined to a wheelchair after a foot injury sustained while playing club cricket in Bengaluru.

The franchise is now considering options for a new head coach, with former coach Kumar Sangakkara, currently Director of Cricket, being a potential candidate to return. The Rajasthan Royals, its players, and fans worldwide extended heartfelt thanks to Dravid for his “remarkable service” to the team.

CM interacts with Delhi's athletes, says will make the city sports capital

New Delhi, Aug 30 (UNI) : Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta on Saturday shared her vision for Delhi's athletes, saying that players from the national capital must participate in national and international sporting events, and take the Indian tri-color to new heights across the globe and return home with medals.

She said that to realize this goal, the Delhi government has substantially increased prize money for athletes who win medals, and is taking decisive steps to provide them with world-class sporting facilities.

Speaking at an interactive session held on Saturday at Thyagaraj Stadium with emerging talents and renowned sports icons, the CM shared her government’s sports vision and outlined new policies.

Welcoming Delhi’s young talent, Gupta said that the city, as well as the nation’s future rests in the hands of these youth who will bring honour to the country in the years to come.

Gupta made special mention of international champions such as Ravi Dahiya, Sharad Kumar, Tejaswin Shankar, Narayan Thakur, Narendra Grewal and Pritam Rani, as she commended their achievements.

“The triumph of an athlete on the global stage is not just an individual honour. It belongs to 1.4 billion Indians,” she remarked.

The event was also attended by Cabinet Minister Mr Ashish Sood, MLA Mr Rajkumar Bhatia, and other dignitaries.

Acknowledging the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Gupta said that sports had, for the first time, received the recognition and constitutional backing long required. She highlighted the recently enacted National Sports Governance Act 2025, which she described as the “Constitution of Sports”, noting that it would ensure improved facilities, professional coaching, balanced nutrition and essential resources for the athletes.

The CM also contrasted her government’s approach with that of the previous administration, which, she said, had neglected sports and failed to enhance rewards or infrastructure. “Our government has not only raised prize money and expanded facilities but has also ensured that athletes receive the respect and opportunities they deserve. Delhi’s athletes are now excelling on both national and international platforms,” Gupta said.

She added that outstanding performers at the Olympics, Asian Games, Commonwealth Games and National Games will receive multi-crore prizes along with honourable government appointments.

Delhi’s Minister for Education Ashish Sood, who was also present on the occasion, assured athletes that their concerns would always be addressed with priority.

“The government will provide every facility and support needed.

Athletes have one responsibility to win medals and make Delhi proud. Both the Chief Minister’s Office and my office stand fully committed to resolving your issues without delay,” he said.

From pandemic struggles to India call-up: Uvais' rise

New Delhi, Aug 30 (UNI) : From struggling to find a club during the COVID-19 pandemic to making a memorable debut for India, Kerala defender Mohammed Uvais Moyikkal’s journey has been one of perseverance and determination.

The 27-year-old from Malappuram, who was once without a team during the pandemic, found himself in the Indian senior men’s national squad earlier this month and made his first appearance in the CAFA Nations Cup 2025 against Tajikistan.

Just five minutes into his debut, Uvais’s long throw-in set up India’s opening goal, giving the team an early lead. India went on to register a 2-1 victory, their first competitive win since November 2023, marking a positive start to the Khalid Jamil era.

“Of course, I had always dreamed of playing for India, but when coach Khalid Jamil took charge, I thought maybe my chance would come,” Uvais said.

“Even then, my inclusion in the probables surprised me. The last two weeks have been a blur, filled with phone calls and congratulations.”

Uvais admitted he was overwhelmed when told he would be starting against Tajikistan. “When the national anthem played, it hit me.

I’m not usually emotional, but I felt it deeply,” he said.

Coming from a football-loving family, with his father working as a local coach and his brother playing for Roots FC in Bengaluru, Uvais had to overcome significant hurdles. During the pandemic, he found it difficult to secure opportunities as tournaments were scarce. His fortunes turned when Gokulam Kerala signed him, and he went on to win the I-League in 2021-22. That success opened doors to the Indian Super League with Jamshedpur FC, where he played under Khalid Jamil.

“Coach Jamil has been instrumental in my growth. He simplifies the game and asks us to keep things simple. His trust in me has been crucial,” Uvais said.

India will next face IR Iran in their second Group B fixture of the CAFA Nations Cup tomorrow. The match will be streamed live on FanCode.
