We are not fighting for ourselves but for the next generation: Jarange Patil

Jarange Patil alleges govt ploy behind violence

Mumbai, Sept 1 (UNI) : The Maratha reservation protest in Mumbai entered its fourth day today with activist Manoj Jarange Patil declaring that he will not retreat without a concrete decision on quota.

“We are not fighting for ourselves but for the next generation. Either a victory march for Maratha reservation will begin from Mumbai, or it will be our funeral procession,” he warned.

Police have extended permission for the protest by one more day, but Jarange Patil reiterated that his agitation would continue until the government takes a decision on reservation. Commenting on the incident where protesters surrounded MP

Supriya Sule’s vehicle and threw bottles, Jarange Patil urged restraint. “Any leader who comes to meet us — whether supporter or opponent — should be welcomed with respect and allowed to leave with dignity. Otherwise, leaders will be afraid to connect with us,” he said.

He further appealed to the protesters to remain patient until the government delivers a verdict, adding, “If we don’t get reservation, then we will decide the next course of action.”

Earlier, Maratha reservation activist Manoj Jarange Patil has alleged that those in power are attempting to malign the ongoing agitation by instigating violence. He has repeatedly urged protestors to remain vigilant against such attempts. The incident came to light when MP Supriya Sule visited the protest site to meet Jarange Patil. As she was leaving, a group of agitators surrounded her vehicle and even hurled bottles at it, accusing NCP chief Sharad Pawar of betraying the community.

However, other protestors intervened, ensuring her safe passage.

Reacting to the incident, Jarange Patil expressed suspicion about the government’s role in such disturbances. He appealed to his supporters, saying, “Whoever visits us—whether an ally or a political opponent—must be allowed to come with dignity and leave with dignity.

Some trying to politicise Maratha quota stir for own benefit: CM

Pune, Sept 1 (UNI) : CM Devendra Fadnavis today said that some people are trying to politicize the Maratha quota stir for their own benefit, and warned that those trying to do so "will end up burning their mouths".

Fadnavis said this while visiting Pune today, where the impact of Maratha reservation activist Manoj Jarange’s hunger strike in Mumbai was also seen.

Maratha agitation ongoing in Mumbai, he said, "This is a social issue, but some are trying to politicize it. A few people are trying to take advantage of the situation for their own benefit. But I say, those who try to roast bread on this issue will end up burning their mouths. Hence, one should not attempt to exploit social issues for personal gain," he hinted. Fadnavis further said the state government’s stance is very clear. "We have taken decisions in a highly positive manner. If you look at it, so far, all the decisions in favor of the Maratha community between 2014 and 2025 were taken — first under my leadership, then under Eknath Shinde’s leadership, and now once again under my leadership. The first reservation was granted by me, the second by Shinde," said Devendra Fadnavis.

Marathas identified as Kunbis; demand

Mumbai, Sept 1 (UNI) : The Hyderabad Gazette has been cited as strong evidence of proving that the Maratha community in Marathwada belongs to the Kunbi category.

On this basis, members of the Maharashtra Cabinet Sub-Committee on Maratha Reservation have urged the government to immediately begin issuing Kunbi caste certificates to Marathas in the region.

According to the Hyderabad Gazette, the Maratha community of Marathwada has historically been economically, socially, and educationally backward. Their livelihood has largely depended on farming, labour, and other menial occupations. Activists argue that distribution of Kunbi certificates in Marathwada should start without delay. Maratha reservation leader Manoj Jarange Patil has also reiterated this demand. He emphasized that the Hyderabad Gazette clearly identifies Marathas of Marathwada as Kunbis. Patil asserted that there would be no extension granted for implementing the Hyderabad and Satara Gazettes, though some time could be allowed for enforcing the Mumbai and Aundh Gazettes.

Research. During examination doctors found that Patil's blood pressure dropped to 90/60 mm Hg and his blood sugar level was recorded at 85 mg/dl, leaving him weak.

HC orders Jarange Patil and Maratha protesters to vacate streets by Sept 2 except Azad Maidan

Mumbai Sept 1 (UNI) : The Bombay High Court today ordered that Maratha reservation protesters should not gather anywhere in the city except Azad Maidan while observing that activist Manoj Jarange and his protesters have prima facie violated the permission granted to hold a peaceful protest and disrupted the city.

The Court has given them time till Tuesday noon to vacate the streets.

The court further instructed the state government to stop protesters arriving from outside Mumbai before they enter the city.

The matter will continue to be heard tomorrow. The directions were given during the hearing of an application moved by Amy Foundation, seeking action against Jarange and his followers for violating the court order and the new Rules on Regulating Public Gatherings and Agitations.

A special bench of Justices Ravindra Ghuge and Gautam Ankhad in its order said that “Respondents 5, 6 and 7 (Jarange, organiser Virendra Pawar and their association) have also prima facie violated the conditions of the permission granted to them and, since they do not have any valid permission to continue the protest, we would expect the state government to follow due procedure laid under the law by initiating appropriate steps as in the August 26 order and Rules 2025. “Thousands of protesters from across Maharashtra have gathered in Mumbai under the leadership of Manoj Jarange Patil to demand Maratha reservation. Majority of them have camped in Azad Maidan but a large number of protesters have parked their vehicles on the road surrounded by Azad Maidan and blocked the adjoining streets..

SC issues notice on plea for transgender-inclusive sexuality education in schools

New Delhi, Sept 1 (UNI) The Supreme Court today issued notice on a Public Interest Litigation (PIL) seeking directions to the union government and states to introduce transgender-inclusive Comprehensive Sexuality Education (CSE) in school curricula across India.

A bench comprising Chief Justice of India BR Gavai and Justice K Vinod Chandran was hearing the plea, which argued that inclusive CSE is essential to foster awareness, equality, and protection of rights for transgender students nationwide.

The petition points out that despite the landmark 2014 NALSA judgment recognizing the rights of transgender persons and the enactment of the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019, school curricula remain largely silent on issues of gender diversity and sexual orientation. It contends that incorporating scientifically accurate and inclusive CSE would not only safeguard the dignity of transgender children but also play a vital role in countering bullying, stigma, and misinformation in schools.

More than 800 killed in devastating earthquake in Afghanistan, PM Modi offers help

New Delhi/Kabul, Sept 1 (UNI) : At least 812 people were killed and 2800 injured in a devastating temblor that struck Eastern Afghanistan in the dead of night today.

The death toll reached 812 and more than 2,800 people were injured. The government has formed a special committee to coordinate the response and allocated 100 million Afghanis for immediate relief, Afghanistan government chief spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed condolences over the loss of lives in the earthquake and said India is ready to provide all possible humanitarian assistance to the affected people. "Deeply saddened by the loss of lives due to the earthquake in Afghanistan. Our thoughts and prayers are with the bereaved families in this difficult hour, and we wish a speedy recovery to the injured. India stands ready to provide all possible humanitarian aid and relief to those affected," the Prime Minister said on X.

The powerful earthquake measuring 6.0 on the Richter scale struck eastern Afghanistan around midnight affecting four provinces, with the mountainous region of Kunar bearing the brunt. The earthquake triggered landslides and flooding complicating the situation.

In Kunar province's Nurgal district (Mazar Dara), Chawkay, Watapur, Manogi, Chapa Dara and surrounding areas, 800 people have died and 2,500 were injured.

In Nangarhar's Dara-i-Noor district, 12 people were killed and 255 injured.

Laghman's Alingar district reported 58 injuries and Nuristan's Nurgam district reported four injuries.

In Panjshir's Abshar district, five houses were destroyed, but no casualties were reported. Mujahid said that in Kunar province, many villages have been destroyed.

International bodies are delivering aid and assisting in rescue operations.

The temblor at 11:47 p.m. local time, was centred about 27 km east-northeast of the city of Jalalabad in Nangarhar province.

The quake was followed by several aftershocks sending residents fleeing their homes again. Buildings shook as far away as Kabul and Islamabad, more than 350 km to the south.

Devendra Fadnavis and Eknath Shinde have done the most work for welfare of the Maratha community: Narendra Patil Mumbai, Sept 1 (UNI) : The largest amount of funds, schemes, and initiatives for the benefit of youth of the Maratha community have been carried out under the Mahayuti government of Devendra Fadnavis, Eknath Shinde and Ajit Pawar, said Narendra Patil, Chairman of ‘Annasaheb Patil Economic Development Corporation here today.He also said the Annasaheb Patil Economic Development Corporation, which was shut down by Sharad Pawar, was reinstated during the 2014–19 tenure of Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis.

"Yet, opposition leaders are currently inciting Maratha youth for their own political gains, which is a low form of politics," criticized Narendra Patil today.Addressing a press conference at the BJP state office where state spokesperson Omprakash Chauhan was also present, Patil elaborated on the various schemes started for the Maratha community during Devendra Fadnavis’s tenure as Chief Minister.He said it was the Mahayuti government, under Mr. Fadnavis’s leadership, that succeeded in creating 1.5 lakh Maratha entrepreneurs. To encourage entrepreneurship among Maratha youth, loans worth Rs 13,000 crore were disbursed to them.

Additionally, the state government provided an interest subsidy of nearly 1,300 crore through the Annasaheb Patil Economic Development Corporation. This clearly shows that Maratha youth are generating employment and, while repaying loans, are receiving subsidies from the government.

To ensure Maratha students also receive scholarships for education like students from other communities, the ‘SARTHI Corporation’ was established on the lines of ‘BARTI.’ Compared to other corporations, Annasaheb Patil Economic Development Corporation was able to extend significant assistance to Maratha youth because it enjoyed the support of the present Mahayuti government and the earlier Shinde - Fadnavis government, he explained.

Patil further said that during the Nizam’s rule, the Maratha community in Marathwada was recognized as OBC or Kunbi and was eligible for reservations. That status must remain intact. If blanket Kunbi caste certificates can be issued in Marathwada, it would be beneficial.He added that the legal aspects of this should be studied by a committee of experts. In this year’s budget session, a provision of 750 crore has been made for the Annasaheb Patil Economic Development Corporation. Last year, the Mahayuti government granted 350 crore to the Corporation, and this year, the very first installment itself amounts to 300 crore.

This controlled water discharge into the Rena river basin has been implemented as a precautionary measure to maintain the dam's structural integrity and prevent potential flooding.

Both gates have been operationalised with a ten-centimetre opening each, resulting in a combined water discharge of 629.22 management throughout the operation.

The administration has issued a formal advisory to residents of villages situated along the river banks that might experience impact from the water release, urging them to undertake necessary precautionary measures. Downstream communities have been specifically advised to remain alert and adhere to all safety guidelines while the water discharge continues.

The Renapur Medium Project, constructed in the year 2000, serves as a crucial water source for domestic consumption, irrigation purposes, industrial requirements, and agricultural needs across Renapur taluka and adjacent villages in Latur district. The reservoir boasts a storage capacity of 11.6 thousand cubic meters (TCM) and is strategically located on the Rena river, which functions as a tributary to the Manjra river.

Maratha quota activist's hunger strike enters fourth day in Mumbai

Mumbai Sept 1 (UNI) : The protest by Maratha quota activist Manoj Jarange Patil entered its fourth day today after a Maharashtra cabinet sub-committee, empowered to tackle the reservation agitation, sought more time to review the matter.

Jarange had announced that he would stop drinking water from today. He remains firm on his demand that Marathas be declared as Kunbis to ensure reservation benefits, making it clear that he would not withdraw his protest until the government granted them the status.

In Maharashtra, the Kunbis are a large, diverse farmer community whose identity is closely linked to the state's agricultural history and the Maratha community, with many Marathas originating from Kunbi roots.

Sources said doctors have examined Jarange Patil and advised him to consume water as well as ORS (oral rehydration solution). With thousands of protestors camping in south Mumbai on the fourth day of the agitation, security in government offices and outside the residences of ministers and public representatives has been tightened.

A top police officer said State Reserve Police Force (SRPF) personnel have been deployed outside Mantralaya, the state secretariat. The police have put up three-tier barricades around the secretariat, with police personnel stading guard at every entry point.

Authorities have also issued traffic advisories for office-goers. Citizens have been told to avoid CSMT Junction and surrounding areas as scores of quota agitators have turned CSMT into temporary shelter.The railway police, too, has increased manpower for crowd management as the terminus sees high passenger footfall.

The Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus (CSMT), the latest hub of quota supporters, is close to the agitation venue Azad Maidan. For the last three nights, several videos have shown protesters sleeping at almost every platform.

Mumbai ailway police chief Rakesh Kalasagar said, “We have scaled up deployment of our force at the CSMT railway station. Government Railway Police (GRP) and Railway Protection Force (RPF) personnel have been deployed”.

He said the railways is taking all necessary safety precautions.

A Central Railway spokesperson today advised commuters and office-goers to keep in mind extra time that they could take while commuting and reaching their destinations. “We request all office-goers and commuters to plan their travel time. We also request work-from-home from those who can afford to minimise travel disruption,” the spokesperson said.The Mumbai traffic police has issued an advisory asking commuters to follow directions while heading to South Mumbai today. The commuters can expect slow traffic and occasional disruption tomorrow morning while commuting towards south Mumbai. "Keep following directions given at traffic junctions to minimise inconvenience,” the traffic police said on X.

Many pre-schoolers get ADHD medication before therapy

Despite clear clinical guidelines recommending six months of behavioral therapy before initiating medication for young children diagnosed with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), a significant number of pre-schoolers are being prescribed medication almost immediately after diagnosis, a new Stanford Medicine-led study has revealed.

Published in JAMA Network Open, the study highlights a troubling trend: many children aged four and five years are starting pharmacological treatment far earlier than advised, in direct contradiction to guidelines issued by the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP).

Researchers analysed the medical records of nearly 10,000 preschool-aged children across eight pediatric health networks in the US. The findings were stark: 42.2% of these children received ADHD medication within just one month of diagnosis. Alarming, only 14.1% began medication after completing the recommended six-month period of behavioral therapy.

Dr Yair Barnett, assistant professor of paediatrics and the study's lead author, expressed serious concerns about this practice. "Starting ADHD treatment with a behavioural approach is beneficial; it has a big positive effect on the child as well as on the family," he said.

Behaviour therapy focuses on modifying the child's environment and routines, training parents to manage behaviours effectively through positive reinforcement and structured schedules.

Moreover, stimulant medications, commonly prescribed for ADHD, tend to cause more side effects in younger children. Children under six years metabolize these drugs less efficiently, resulting in irritability, emotional instability, and aggression. Dr Barnett noted, "While toxicity is not a major concern, treatment failure is high because families often discontinue medication due to these side effects."

ADHD is characterised by hyperactivity, impulsivity, and difficulty maintaining attention. Early diagnosis and effective treatment are crucial, as children with ADHD face higher risks of academic struggles and school dropout. Research confirms that appropriate management improves long-term outcomes in education, employment, relationships, and legal behaviour.

The American Academy of Pediatrics endorses parent training in behaviour management as the first-line treatment for preschool children with ADHD. This evidence-based therapy equips parents with skills to nurture positive behaviours and ignore negative ones, providing tools such as visual schedules to help children organise daily tasks.

Medication serves a complementary role, alleviating core ADHD symptoms. Its effects are temporary and dependent on consistent dosing. Most children with ADHD benefit from a combination of behavioural therapy and medication, but behavioural intervention should precede pharmacological treatment, especially in young children.

The study's analysis could not determine why doctors frequently prescribed medication early. However, informal conversations with physicians revealed that limited access to behavioural therapy is a major factor.

In many regions, therapists trained in behavioural management are scarce, and insurance coverage is often inadequate.

Dr Barnett stressed the importance of educating paediatricians on available resources, including free or low-cost online behavioural training for parents. "If behavioural therapy is unavailable, doctors sometimes feel compelled to prescribe medication rather than offer no treatment at all."

While this study focused on 4- and 5-year-olds, behavioural therapy remains vital for older children with ADHD.

For those aged six and above, guidelines recommend combined behavioural and medication treatment to provide both symptom relief and long-term coping skills.

Dr Barnett concluded, "Medication is never the sole solution for ADHD. Behavioural therapy teaches the child and family long-term skills that will help them in life." In other words, behavioural therapy builds lifelong skills that medication alone cannot provide.

Robotic Era Redefines Urological Surgeries: Global Experts at "Robo-Lap" Conference by AINU

One of India's largest Urology Conferences dedicated to advancing excellence in urological laparoscopy and robotics surgery

(Standard Post Bureau)

The era of robots in urological surgeries has arrived, and patients, whether from urban or rural areas, increasingly demand minimally invasive surgeries with smaller incisions. International medical experts noted that the perception of robotic surgery as less painful and offering faster recovery is now widely accepted. Asian Institute of Nephrology and Urology (AINU), India's largest single-specialty hospital chain for urology and nephrology, successfully hosted the Robo-Lap 2025 conference—one of the country's most significant gatherings dedicated to robotic and laparoscopic advancements in uro care. More than 1,000 Urologists across India, the England, USA, Belgium, Bangladesh, Nepal, Sri Lanka attended the conference, where complex urology cases were discussed with the esteemed panel of experts. This unique conference led by AINU became a vibrant hub for exchanging clinical knowledge, future-ready surgical practices, and global perspectives to redefine patient outcomes in this specialty.

The two-day academic exchange featured complex case discussions, workshops, and high-level deliberations on future technologies shaping urology and nephrology.

Speaking about the conference, Dr. Mallikarjuna C, Managing Director & Chief Consultant Urologist, AINU, said, "At AINU, we have always believed that advancing patient care begins with advancing clinical knowledge. Robo-Lap 2025 was not just about showcasing surgical innovations—it was about creating a forum where specialists from across the globe could engage, share insights, and collectively reimagine the future of Urology care. By curating platforms of this scale, we ensure that the urology community has access to the latest breakthroughs in robotics and minimally invasive surgery. Clinical knowledge exchange lies at the heart of AINU's mission, and this conference reaffirms our commitment to shaping the future of care in India and beyond. A trailblazer in laparoscopic and robotic urological surgery."

"Today, whether—urban or rural—patients are asking for smaller incisions, because they know it reduces pain, ensures faster recovery, and helps them return quickly to normal life. However, training in such procedures, particularly in the urology field, has not traditionally been part of medical college education.

For this reason, the conference proved extremely useful to practitioners who enhanced their knowledge and skills and are now better equipped to return to their states or countries and provide satisfactory treatment to patients there." He added.

Sandeep Guduru, Chief Executive Officer at AINU, said, "The 'Robo-Lap' initiative reflects AINU's commitment to clinical excellence, continuous learning, and technological innovation in the fields of urology. At AINU, we believe in pushing the boundaries of innovation, and Robo-Lap is a shining example of that spirit."

The conference also served as a vital knowledge-sharing platform on the management of advanced uro-oncology surgeries, reconstructive surgeries, complex pediatric surgeries. Renowned experts deliberated on surgical solutions for challenging cases, demonstrating how robotic and laparoscopic techniques are transforming precision, reducing invasiveness, and enabling faster patient recovery.

Robo-Lap 2025 stands as a testament to AINU's thought leadership in fostering collaboration, innovation, and academic rigor for the benefit of the global urology and nephrology community.

Kharge slams BJP at Voter Adhikar Yatra finale, says Bihar to uproot 'double-engine corrupt govt'

Patna, Sept 1 (UNI) ; In a fiery address marking the conclusion of the 16-day-long Voter Adhikar Yatra today, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge attacked the BJP-led central and state governments, asserting that Bihar will lead the nation in uprooting what he claimed a "double-engine corrupt government".

Addressing a massive crowd here along with leaders of the INDIA bloc, Kharge congratulated all those who participated in the yatra, describing it as a "people's awakening".

"This yatra wasn't just a protest, it was a movement to reclaim democracy and the fundamental right to vote. Wherever it passed, crores poured onto the streets. The people of Bihar made it a resounding success," he said.

Kharge further accused the Modi government of systematically dismantling democratic institutions over the past 11 years, alleging the misuse of agencies like the ED, CBI, and Income Tax Department to destabilise Opposition governments.

"First, they stole from the poor and handed public wealth to a few industrialist friends. Then, they used that money to topple elected governments. Now, they've moved from theft to outright robbery," he alleged.

He also took aim at the recent legislation passed in Parliament, calling it a tool to silence the Opposition and deflect from the government's failures.

The Congress president also praised Rahul Gandhi for consistently standing up for the oppressed, linking the Voter Adhikar Yatra with previous campaigns like Bharat Jodo Yatra, Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, and Jai Babu – Jai Bhim – Jai Samvidhan.

"Every time the rights of the marginalised are under threat, Rahul ji raises their voice whether it's Dalits, tribals, backward classes or women. This yatra continues that legacy," he said.

Equating the alleged voter fraud in Bihar with the theft of people's basic rights, Kharge said, "Stealing your vote means stealing your ration, your pension, your right to housing, and your MGNREGA wages. Voting is not just a right, it's your dignity".

Referring to the recent Special Intensive Revision (SIR), Kharge said the Opposition had been vindicated by the Supreme Court and criticised the BJP for shielding the Election Commission from scrutiny.

Kharge also slammed Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, and said, "He lacked the courage to fight against injustice. Abandoning the socialist ideology, he aligned himself with the RSS and BJP. The people of Bihar have realized that these are 'partners in crime'. Not just Bihar, from Kashmir to Kanyakumari, people have seen their true face".

According to seismological data, the epicentre was located about 27 km (17 miles) from Jalalabad, the capital of Nangarhar province and Afghanistan’s fifth-largest city.The quake comes just days after Nangarhar province was battered by severe flooding between Friday and Saturday, which destroyed properties and left five people dead, local authorities said.

Russian envoy Kirill Dmitriev says SCO sets itself apart from Western forums due to real cooperation Tianjin, Sept 1 (UNI) : In a subtle jab at Western economic bodies, Kirill Dmitriev, Russian President Vladimir Putin’s aide on international economic affairs, commented that what sets SCO apart from Western forums is its genuine spirit of cooperation, with “no one bothering anyone”, reports RT.

The Shanghai Cooperation Organisation Summit, which started on August 31 in the Chinese city of Tianjin, brought together more than 20 members and partner nations.

In particular, the forum saw the Indian and Chinese leaders meeting in the wake of improved bilateral relations and US President Donald Trump’s sweeping economic tariffs, which has been a thorn for both the economic powerhouses.Speaking to reporters on Monday, Dmitriev said the meeting showcased countries “cooperating between themselves, which contrasts the disjointed Western world.”

Within the organisation “no one bothers anyone”, he added, and “the entire world sees this spirit of cooperation, even as there are many forces, particularly in Europe, whose aims are against cooperation.”

His remarks came as EU and the US administrations have found themselves at odds over major global issues, including international trade practices amid Trump tariffs, the Israeli military campaign against Hamas in Gaza, and the Russia-Ukraine war, hindering cooperation and not leading to any concrete results.

The Russian official said that this stems from the West’s aim at preserving a unipolar world order, which no longer reflects ground realities.

Russian police ban 39 Polish citizens over unauthorized rally

Ryazan, Russia, Sept1 (UNI) : Police have issued administrative protocols against a group of Polish citizens who staged an unauthorized rally near the Russian city of Tver, banning them from entering Russia for five years, the Interior Ministry’s Tver branch announced on Sunday.

According to Russian media reports, several dozen Polish bikers belonging to the far-right ultranationalist All-Polish Youth group held a torch-lit religious ceremony at the Mednoye memorial in the Tver Region. They reportedly entered Russia through a border checkpoint with Belarus in the Pskov Region.

“Information about an unsanctioned rally at the Mednoye memorial complex near Tver was disseminated in the media.

Police identified all participants of the event, who turned out to be Polish citizens. Administrative offense protocols were issued against 39 individuals under Part 2 of Article 18.8 of the Russian Code of Administrative Offenses,” the ministry said in a statement on Telegram.

The decision was made to ban them from entering Russia for a period of five years, it added.

U.S. widens visa ban on Palestinian passport holders

Washington, Sept 1 (UNI) : The administration of U.S. President Donald Trump has broadened its visa restrictions on Palestinian passport holders, halting approvals for nearly all categories of non-immigrant visitor visas, reported The New York Times.

The expanded suspension covers applications for medical treatment, university study, business travel, and visiting friends or family, said the report on Sunday.

The measure, laid out in an Aug. 18 cable from the State Department to U.S. embassies and consulates, marks a sweeping extension of earlier measures that applied only to residents of Gaza. The new policy now targets Palestinians in the West Bank and across the diaspora. Earlier this month, the Trump administration also revoked visas from members of the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Palestinian Authority, preventing them from attending the upcoming United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Plane carrying EU Commission President forced to land using analogue maps in Bulgaria post alleged Russian GPS jamming Brussels/Sofia, Sept 1 (UNI) : A plane carrying European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen was struck by GPS jamming over Bulgaria on Sunday.

Officials have alleged that Russia was the perpetrator of the incident, forcing the aircraft to circle for an hour before landing safely in Plovdiv.

The European Commission confirmed the incident, saying it occurred as von der Leyen began a four-day tour of European union nations bordering Russia and Belarus.

“We can indeed confirm that there was GPS jamming,” said commission spokesperson Arianna Podesta.

“We have received information from the Bulgarian authority that they suspect that this was due to blatant interference by Russia.”

Bulgarian air traffic officials said the disruption knocked out satellite navigation across the airport area. “The whole airport area GPS went dark,” one official told reporters, describing the interference as “undeniable.”

The plane eventually landed using analogue maps and traditional terrestrial navigation tools.

The Bulgarian Air Traffic Authority confirmed the incident and said GPS interference in the region has risen sharply since Russia launched its full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022.

More recently, it noted, there has been a surge in “spoofing” – the falsification of GPS signals – as well as outright jamming.

“These interferences disrupt the accurate reception of GPS signals, leading to operational challenges for aircraft and ground systems,” the authority said in a statement.Von der Leyen, a vocal critic of Russian President Vladimir Putin, was unharmed and continued her schedule. Speaking to reporters after landing, she repeated her hard line on Moscow. “Putin has not changed, and he will not change. He is a predator. He can only be kept in check through strong deterrence.”

Her spokesperson said the incident reinforced the urgency of her mission. “This incident underlines the urgency of the president’s tour in the front-line member states,” Podesta said, adding that von der Leyen had seen “first hand the everyday challenges of threats coming from Russia and its proxies.”

The Bulgarian government also issued a statement confirming that the plane’s navigation system had been “neutralised” mid-flight. “To ensure the flight’s safety, air control services immediately offered an alternative landing method using terrestrial navigation tools,” it said.

Cases of GPS jamming have been on the rise across Europe, particularly in eastern member states and the Baltic Sea region.

Planes, ships and even civilian GPS devices have been affected, prompting EU governments to warn that Russia’s use of electronic warfare tactics could trigger a major air disaster by effectively blinding commercial aircraft.

Von der Leyen has repeatedly pushed for greater EU investment in defence and security, pledging in Bulgaria that Europe would strengthen deterrence against Moscow. “Of course, the EU will continue to invest in defence spending and in Europe’s readiness even more after this incident,” her spokesperson said.

Venezuela ready for U.S. "any attack," says defence chief

Caracas, Sept 1 (UNI) : Venezuela is prepared for "any attack" from the United States, Venezuelan Defence Minister Vladimir Padrino Lopez said on Sunday."We will fight if you dare to set foot in Venezuela," Padrino Lopez warned the U.S. government in a statement released by a state-run media. Venezuela is under a siege that aims to provoke internal chaos and undermine the nation's political leadership, said the defence chief."The announcement of these naval deployments in Caribbean waters is nothing more than a show of force, a way of marking territory so that other powers will not take control of the Caribbean Sea," he said, referring to U.S. military manoeuvres in the region.

The Venezuelan Armed Forces are patrolling the country's maritime borders and airspace in response to President Nicolas Maduro's call to strengthen the Bolivarian National Militia, said the official.

Padrino Lopez added that 15,000 military personnel have been deployed to Venezuela's western region.The minister also highlighted the military's domestic security efforts, noting that anti-drug operations have led to the destruction of over 30 criminal outposts and illegal boat-building facilities.Tensions in the Caribbean Sea have escalated after the United States deployed warships near the coast of Venezuela earlier this month, which Washington describes as part of its strategy to fight the international drug cartels. Several leaders in the region, including Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum and Colombian President Gustavo Petro, criticised U.S. military manoeuvres near Venezuela in the Caribbean Sea.

European leaders made a mistake abandoning diplomacy on Ukraine

Brussels, Sept 1 (UNI) : European leaders have chosen a counterproductive path by prolonging the conflict in Ukraine instead of pursuing diplomatic solutions, well-known US economist and director of the Center for Sustainable Development at Columbia University, Jeffrey Sachs said.

"All of the European leaders pursuing the war are deeply unpopular with their own people. This is true of (UK Prime Minister Keir) Starmer, (German Chancellor Friedrich) Merz, (French President Emmanuel) Macron and others. And I think it reflects the very poor policies that Europe is choosing. The European leaders have failed to pursue diplomacy. They seem not to understand it, or they're afraid of it entirely," Sachs said.

Sachs highlighted the declining support for Germany’s Friedrich Merz, suggesting he could be one of the worst chancellors in German history.

"He (Chancellor Merz) is a warmonger and a German chancellor who is a leader of an important country, should be in direct talks with President (of Russia Vladimir) Putin to discuss the European scene, but Merz doesn't have that know-how or capacity or interest," the economist explained.

On August 15, Russian President Vladimir Putin met US President Donald Trump for talks in Anchorage, Alaska. On August 18, Trump hosted Volodymyr Zelensky and European leaders for talks at the White House.

Trump then called Putin to discuss the peace process. Putin and Trump agreed that direct negotiations between Russian and Ukrainian delegations should continue and discussed raising the level of representation, Russian presidential aide Yury Ushakov said.

Jude Law opens up about preparing for his role as Vladimir Putin: “I Became Obsessive”

Venice, Sept 1 (UNI) : Hollywood star Jude Law revealed that he immersed himself deeply into the persona of Russian President Vladimir Putin while preparing for his upcoming role as the leader.

British actor Jude Law told yesterday how he became an "obsessive" viewer of Vladimir Putin in preparation for his role as the Russian president in his new movie "The Wizard of the Kremlin" that will open later at the Venice Film Festival.Law, 52, closely resembles Putin, mimicking his scowl and unique swagger in the movie by French filmmaker Olivier Assayas, which tells the story of the former spy's ascension."There's a lot of footage one could watch and, personally, when I start going down that rabbit hole, it becomes sort of obsessive," he told journalists.

"You're looking for ever more, newer material."He described playing Putin as being a challenge due to his notoriously expressionless face.

"The difficult part to me was that the public persona that we glimpse (of Putin), we glimpse very, very little," Law added.

"There's this mask."Law attributed his resemblance to the actual Putin to "an incredible makeup and hair team", stating that he was not afraid of backlash.

The film, two and a half hours long, is a thorough examination of Putin's career gagging political adversaries, intimidating oligarchs, and enriching his circle.

According to media reports,"It is told through the eyes of a fictional political advisor, Vadim Baranov, played by Paul Dano. It is based on a top-selling book of the same name by Italian author Giuliano da Empoli.

UP Yoddhas recover in style to spark commanding 34-31 come back win against Patna Pirates Visakhapatnam, Sept 1 (UNI) : UP Yoddhas stormed to a commanding 34-31 victory over the Patna Pirates at the Rajiv Gandhi Indoor Stadium in the Pro Kabaddi League (PKL) 12 here, tonight.

The Yoddhas, aided by a strategic raiding blueprint and a vividly solid defensive framework, overcame the opposition in a tremendous second-half outing that saw them bag their second successive win this season. Raiders Bhavani Rajput and Shivam Choudhary chipped in with five points each, but it was the 33rd-minute reintroduction of Gagan Gowda that stole the show for the Yoddhas in the final stint of the proceedings.

Gowda amassed seven points, helping the Jasveer Singh-coached unit build a robust lead over the Pirates before the proceedings rounded off. UP Yoddhas trailed by 19-13 at the end of the first half, but a timely re-gathering of plans propelled them to an emphatic triumph, signifying their resolve, resilience, and resistance to a spirited opponent.

The Yoddhas registered a 38.1 per cent raid success rate and 42.86 per cent strike rate on that front. Both teams had 16 successful raids. It was, hence, the defence that managed to pip the Pirates, with 12 successful tackles at a success rate of 46.15 per cent. They secured eight tackle points in the second essay of the encounter, as opposed to Patna's two, and this was made possible by the captain and vice-captain duo of Sumit Sangwan and Ashu Singh, respectively.

Both of them notched five points each, and a solitary super tackle pushed them to edge ahead, in what eventually ended up transpiring into a clash of fine margins.

The Yoddhas also employed a calculated strategy in the do-or-die raids, with Bhavani and Gagan bagging crucial points in a couple of them in the opening stages of the second half.

If the first win against the Telugu Titans displayed the sheer quality brimming through the UP Yoddhas roster, this one against the Patna Pirates is a reminder that their players blend a tough character with promising talent, traits that promise to take them a long way this season.

UP Yoddhas are set to face the Haryana Steelers on September 5, whereas Patna Pirates will lock horns with the Jaipur Pink Panthers on September 2.

Sumit, Ashu shine as UP Yoddhas claw their way back against Patna Pirates

Vizag, Sept 1 (UNI) : A hard-fought comeback from the UP Yoddhas saw them beat the Patna Pirates 34-31 in what was a closely-fought contest to the very end at the Vishwanadh Sports Club in Vizag on Monday. Sumit and Ashu Singh got much-deserved High Fives, while Gagan Gowda scored seven points as the Yoddhas secured an impressive victory.

In the opening 10 minutes, Patna Pirates edged ahead of UP Yoddhas, leading 7-6 in what began as a tightly fought clash. Patna's young raider Ayan Lohchab was the standout performer in this phase, notching up three raid points and twice sending the Yoddhas defenders to the bench. Ankit made his presence felt with a crucial tackle on Guman Singh, while Maninder Singh chipped in with a successful raid to keep the Pirates narrowly in front. For the Yoddhas, Gagan Gowda looked lively with a couple of sharp raids, while Ashu Singh and Sumit contributed with important defensive tackles. Midway through the half, Ayan produced the game's defining moment - a brilliant raid that took out Ashu Singh and Mohammadreza Kaboudrahangi, inflicting the first All Out on UP Yoddhas. He continued to dominate thereafter, adding points at regular intervals, including a raid that removed Mahender Singh and Bhavani Rajput in quick succession.

The Yoddhas found some respite late in the half when Ayan was finally trapped in a Super Tackle, but by then, Patna had built a commanding lead. At halftime, the score read 19-13 in favour of the Pirates, with Ayan leading the charge with eight raid points. Patna Pirates maintained their grip on the contest in the opening exchanges of the second half, extending their lead to 23-19 against UP Yoddhas after 30 minutes of play. Substitute raider Ankit Rana made an instant impact with a successful raid that sent Sumit to the bench, while Maninder Singh also did well in a Do-Or-Die raid against Hitesh.

The Yoddhas, however, refused to back down. Bhavani Rajput and Gagan Gowda added crucial raid points to keep their side in the hunt, and Sumit pulled off a fine tackle on Ayan to halt the Pirates' momentum. With both sides trading empty raids and defences tightening up, the margin remained slender, setting the stage for a tense final phase.

The Patna Pirates suffered their first ALL OUT in the 7th minute, as the UP Yoddhas equalled the score in style. They piled the pressure on the three-time champions, but Ayan Lohchab escaped Hitesh, giving his team a late lifeline.

Haryana Steelers Coach promises to bounce back strong after losing to Bengal Warriorz Vizag, Sept 1 (UNI) : Haryana Steelers may have gone down against Bengal Warriorz in their Pro Kabaddi League Season 12 opener, but head coach Manpreet Singh made it clear that this was no reason to panic.

"We played very well. Our raiding was strong, our defence also held its ground. But there's a big difference between winning a match and winning a trophy," said Singh, his words carrying a message that the defending champions' ambitions lie far beyond this result.

The coach was quick to stress that the team is still finding its rhythm. "It is very difficult to perform at peak levels in the first match. Every league takes one or two matches for the team to settle. Once the team is set, you will see a very different Haryana Steelers." Star raider Naveen Kumar also pulled no punches while reflecting on the loss. "We lost the match because we didn't do what the coach had told us to do. The boys fought, but we made mistakes that Bengal Warriorz capitalised on, like the Super Raid. These are small errors, and we will fix them fast."

At the same time, Singh's defiance stood out. "This is just the first step. We're not here to count wins and losses, we're here to lift the trophy at the end. That's the only standard I'm holding this team to."

Closing on a note of intent, Singh issued a warning to the rest of the league. "We'll correct our errors and come back harder. When this team clicks, everyone will feel the heat. Haryana Steelers will not just compete - we are here to dominate."

Swiatek cruises past Alexandrova into US Open quarters

New York, Sept 1 (UNI) : World No.2 Iga Swiatek continued her impressive run at the US Open 2025, storming into the quarterfinals with a straight-sets win over Russia's Ekaterina Alexandrova at the Louis Armstrong Stadium here today. Swiatek, who had shown signs of vulnerability in her previous round when she was forced to stage a comeback from 1-5 down against Anna Kalinskaya, displayed a far more clinical and assured performance this time. She needed only one hour and four minutes to secure a 6-3, 6-1 triumph, outclassing her opponent in all departments.

The Polish star was quick off the blocks, breaking Alexandrova early in the first set and dictating rallies with her trademark heavy forehand. After sealing the opener 6-3, she elevated her game further in the second, reeling off winners and applying constant pressure on Alexandrova's serve. The Russian, who struggled to match Swiatek's intensity, was broken thrice in the second set as the match quickly slipped from her grasp. With the victory, Swiatek advanced to her fourth straight quarterfinal at Flushing Meadows, underlining her consistency on the big stage. The 24-year-old is chasing her maiden US Open title, having previously lifted trophies at Roland Garros and Wimbledon. Swiatek will next face either American Amanda Anisimova or Brazil's Beatriz Haddad Maia in the quarterfinals, a contest that could test her adaptability against contrasting styles. With her form gathering momentum, Swiatek has once again emerged as one of the frontrunners for the title as the tournament heads into its decisive second week

The 20-year-old attacker has signed a contract with the Werkself until June 2030. According to reports, the deal is worth around 35 million euros (41 million U.S. dollars), including potential bonuses, with a fixed fee of 32 million euros. "Ben Seghir is a first-class technician, inventive and clever in his dribbling with the ability to play precise, progressive passes," said Leverkusen sporting director Simon Rolfes.

On the European stage, he made 10 UEFA Champions League appearances, finding the net twice. With the Morocco national team, Ben Seghir has collected 11 caps and scored three goals.

Ben Seghir expressed enthusiasm for the new challenge. "Joining Bayer 04 is a step into a new football culture for me. The Bundesliga is very different compared to Ligue 1, which makes it especially exciting. I've been impressed by the club's development in recent years. Leverkusen is respected internationally and is well known in both France and Morocco as a flagship of German football. I'm proud to now be part of this team," he said.

The move comes as Leverkusen looks to strengthen its offensive options following high-profile departures earlier this summer and a poor start into the season with just one point after two matches. BJP-RSS has ruined India's foreign policy : Akhilesh Lucknow, Sep 1 (UNI) : Samajwadi Party President Akhilesh Yadav today said that BJP-RSS has ruined India's foreign policy as all the friendly countries of the world have veered away from New Delhi. “Recently, even during Operation Sindoor, our neighbouring countries did not stand with us. At that time, China was helping Pakistan in every way. US, with whom there was great friendship, has now imposed 50 percent tariff on trade and has also threatened more stringent economic sanctions. The frightened BJP government has now taken refuge in China, whose track record has been one of enmity with India,” he claimed. Yadav, while addressing the party leaders here, said: “We have seen the fate of the slogan of Hindi-Chini Bhai-Bhai in 1962 and 4000 of our military officers were imprisoned and subjected to all kinds of torture. Earlier in 1950, China had occupied Tibet”. He said that China has always had its eyes on Indian land. “ It broke India's War Memorial in Rizangla, it snatched Five Fingers, it occupied Pangong Lake, and it has thousands of square miles of Indian land under its control. China also claims a large part of India's Arunachal Pradesh as its own. It has not stopped its military activities in the Galwan Valley and other important military areas. Then why are the two countries holding talks?,” he questioned. The SP president said that China is finding itself helpless in front of US economic pressures and on the other hand, the sword of closure is hanging in front of India's business establishments as exports have stopped and imports have become very expensive.
